LOWELL'S OBSERVANCE OF
COLUMBUS DAY

Lowell will observe Columbus day in a comparatively quiet manner to-morrow and the bulk of the observance will be of a religious nature by the local council of the Knights of Columbus. The day will open by the parade of the members of the council from Associate building to St. Michael's church, where a solemn high mass will be celebrated at 9:30 o'clock. A number of the members of the council who are at present in various branches of the national service will take part in the parade.

In the afternoon the local knights will journey to Camp Devens, Ayer, where the formal opening of the observance of Columbus but at the same time will take place. The local council has been asked to help in the opening and Commissioner James E. Donnelly has been delegated to take charge of an entertainment by local talent. The Lowell council will have charge of an entertainment in the hall from 5:30 to 8 o'clock and the latter part of the program will be in charge of the Worcester council. All the members of the organization are asked to make the journey to the cantonment not only to help in the dedication of the building but also to meet the Lowell boys who are camped there and give them a word of encouragement. The trip to Ayer will be made by automobile.

Tonight at their rooms in Associate building the knights will hold a night-before observance of the holiday in the form of a banquet and reception to the soldier members of the council. An elaborate program has been arranged and the occasion should prove a notable one.

Outside of the K. of C. circles the observance locally will be a stereotyped one. At 10 a. m. Lowell high's football eleven will line up against Lawrence academy from Groton and the experts say that a corking game is in store. Spalding park will be the scene of the fray.

The O.M.I. Cadets will hold their annual field day at the Knights of Columbus grounds in Tyngsboro. A sham battle, military exhibition and general good time for the young soldiers and their friends will form the day's program. Major Joseph F. Boyd will be in general charge of the celebration.

The Lowell Driving club will stage races at Golden Cove tomorrow afternoon and the events will undoubtedly attract a large number of followers of the sport. The Lowell Gun club will hold an all-day shoot at its grounds in Chelmsford Centre.

The Worcester Country club will stage tournaments at its course and there will be a number of other sporting events.

The clubs and social organizations will hold open house all day while the various theatres will offer special programs for the day.

Industrial Lowell will be practically silent tomorrow. The majority of the mills will close for the day while some will close this evening not to open again until Monday morning. The larger department stores will be closed all day while the meat and provision markets will be open for only a few hours in the morning at the most.

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The Chicago White Sox, thrown back by a stinging defeat at the hands of the New York Giants, attempted a counter thrust today on the National league champions in the fourth game of the world's series at the Polo grounds battlefield. The Giants, inspired by a victory over the American leaguers, planned to make it two straight today and even up the series. Probably 23,000 persons saw the fray.

"We needed that one" to get us going," said Capt. Charles Herzog. "and more too, the Sox are not so cocky now that they have had the harpoon thrown into them just when they felt so sure of a walk-over."

Field Fairly Fast
The Giants' captain looked to Saltee or Schupp for the day's artillery work with Perritt held in reserve.

Giants Get "Great Hand"

ALLIES HOLD GROUND WON
IN GREAT DRIVE

Extremely bad weather on the Flanders front is limiting the activities of the belligerents. Notwithstanding the difficulties created by turning of the battleground into a mud field, however, the allies have maintained themselves in the territory they gained in Tuesday's great drive. At only one point has their hold slipped at all and that was in a particularly low sector along the British front, below Poelcapelle, where, as announced yesterday, their advanced posts were drawn in a little.

French Beat Off Attack
While the work of consolidation and preparation for the renewal of the offensive is proceeding, German counter-attacks are being held off by the entente guns. Last night the French had one of these attacks to deal with in the region east of Draebank. The attack was broken up by the French fire. Some attention is being attracted by the persistence of the German efforts to regain ground on the French front in the Verdun region.

In this connection it is noted that recently one of the German military critics, in alluding to the situation in Flanders spoke of the peril to which the Germans might be subjected on the Verdun front if the German lines in the Belgian area should give way.

French Near German Territory
The French are very near German territory northeast of Verdun and a forced weakening of the German lines there might well have a serious effect upon the whole military situation, as the French are now for the initiation of a drive from the outlying Verdun positions. The German effort to push back the French here, or possibly to regain the lost initiative in the region, may possibly be traced to anxiety in this respect on the part of the German high command.

Small success, however, is attending the German efforts in this direction. He tried again last night near Hill 344, but Gen. Petain's forces held their ground, driving the Germans out of such advanced trenches as they managed temporarily to penetrate.

GERMAN-IRISH U-BOATS SANK 25
PROPAGANDA SHIPS IN WEEK

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Germany financed Irish-American propaganda organization in the United States as early as 1909 to combat the newly developed movement for celebration of one hundred years of peace between America and Great Britain, president Wilson has learned from leaders in the centenary celebration.

John A. Stewart of New York, chairman of the American branch of the centenary committee, who recently called at the White House with S. P. O'Leary, a leader in the British phase of the movement brought evidence that within five weeks after announcement of the centenary plans, early in 1909, German and Irish-American interests in the United States formed a number of associations and leagues to foster interest in German affairs.

Most of these organizations, Mr. Stewart informed the president, shortly became merged with the American Truth society, whose president, Jeremiah O'Leary, was mentioned in the secret message to Count von Bernstorff from the German government dispatching Secretary Lansing.

One of the activities of the organization was to erect elaborate monuments over the graves of prominent German-Americans and to give publicity to historic roles played by Germans in the United States. Development of the British-American peace centenary movement was combatted by German propaganda in a number of ways, extending even to lobbying against bills in state legislatures to promote the centenary celebration planned for 1914 and disarranged by the war.

Mr. Stewart offered to place at the disposal of the president or state department records of the British-American peace centenary committee indicating that German-American propaganda to exploit American public opinion came into existence at least eight years ago.

"The legislation" the cardinal wrote, "will benefit morally as well as physically, and help to prepare them for their civic duties, or if necessary, for the stern needs of war."

CLOSING ARGUMENTS IN THE WAKELIN CASE
CAMBRIDGE, Oct. 11.—Closing arguments were today in the trial of Joseph Wakelin, a farmer, and Sarah Ann Wakelin, his wife, charged with responsibility for the death of their daughter, Loretta, aged 7 years, at Melrose on June 1, 1916. While the defendants were indicted for first degree murder, the state at the opening of the case two weeks ago announced that it would ask the jury to bring in a verdict of manslaughter.

The jury first heard William R. Scharton, counsel for the defense who was followed by George S. Harvey, assistant district attorney, for the prosecution. It was expected that Judge Patrick M. Keating would deliver his charge at the afternoon session and that a verdict probably would be returned late today or tonight.

LOWELL LIBERTY
BOND CAMPAIGN

If of Liberty you're fond
Do your bit and buy a bond.

Lowell people are beginning to do their bit in the local Liberty bond campaign and the industrial people especially are coming to the front at the present time.

Following yesterday morning's meeting of the heads of the industrial firms a healthy interest among the employees of the mills has been stirred up and from now on the bulk of subscriptions will undoubtedly come from these people.

This afternoon at 1:45 N. G. Nickerson and W. Real, both prominent in Boston financial circles, visited the Saco-Lowell plant and addressed the heads of the various departments. Later they visited the Sterling mills with the same mission and tonight Mr. Nickerson will speak at the Boot mills. It is felt that an elucidation of the Liberty bond campaign to give a new decorative note to the town's war effort will be given by these speakers.

When the reports of the various branches had all been sent in and tabulated last evening it was found that

WHY NOT TURN YOUR HOUSE INTO A HOME?
Now that the cool autumn weather is here it suggests many things to the housewife intent upon re-establishing her home for the fall and winter. Perhaps she requires a new dinner set or cut glass ware; a lamp to add to the cheer of her living room; furniture to replace some that has served long and well; upholstery to give a new decorative note to the rooms; pots and pans and other household articles. Now is the time to buy these things. Make your home as comfortable as possible. Undoubtedly someone in your family has left for a training camp or joined some branch of military service. Others will probably go before the war is over. Keep your home comfortable and when the boys go away they will always remember their home as the dearest place on earth.

Another Crisis in Germany
Removal of Chancellor
Michaelis Denounced

Serious Crisis Caused By Attempt of Michaelis, Helfferich and von Chapelle to Use Alleged Plot in Navy as Political Weapon—Mutiny Crushed

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 11.—Germany's paper crisis over the pan-German propaganda which loomed so big in anticipation but was so small in results has passed. In its place has arisen a new and this time a really serious crisis caused by the attempt of Chancellor Michaelis, Vice Chancellor Helfferich and Minister of the Navy von Chapelle to use the alleged plot in the German navy as a political weapon against the party of the extreme left in the Reichstag.

It is not improbable, German political observers point out, that Chancellor Michaelis in an hour of apparent success sowed the seeds of his own downfall. Results are not to be expected immediately as the Reichstag adjourns this week, but the new

THE DAY'S NEWS AT CITY HALL

The two plots of land owned by the Locks and Canals Co. and located in Pawtucket street between the Moody street bridge and Melvin street will be laid out and embellished by the park department. Today the members of the board of parks and recreation met to consider the plan for the improvement of the land for a period of thirty years at a cost of $5 a year and the abatement of taxes.

The superintendent of the park department stated this morning that the purpose of the board in leasing the land was to prevent the erection of unsightly buildings in that district and also to provide breathing spots for the residents of the neighborhood. It is not expected that any work on the land will be done this year. One of the lots extends from the corner of Pawtucket and Moody streets to the canal, while the other, which is much larger, extends from the canal to the banks of the river and Melvin street.

Shedd Park Improvements

Work on developing Shedd park has been started by the park department and already four acres of rough land are being treated with slack lime. Later grass seed will be sowed.

Plant Juice Has Surely Cured Him

Dracut (Mass.) Citizen Give a Strong Testimonial for the New Remedy

Ask any one of a dozen of your acquaintances who have reached or passed the middle age of life, how they feel. At least one will say: "I am not at all well lately. I guess I am wearing out." Stomach troubles have gone back on me—I am getting along you know, nearing forty. Think of how many men and women you know who are old at forty, even at thirty-five when they should be just in the hey-day of their prime. Most of them are old because their stomachs have aged before their bodies; they are worn-out because their stomachs are worn-out.

Plant Juice, the new herbal stomachic remedy, has kept thousands of stomachs from wearing out before their time. It has made them like new, and their owners now feel like new men and women.

One of the latest to give a voluntary signed testimonial for Plant Juice, telling how he has been restored to health, is Mr. A. L. Elizard, who resides at No. 155 Lakewood avenue, Dracut, Mass., and is in the employ of one of the largest firms in New England and a man of the utmost honor and integrity. He said:

"I had been troubled for over a year with a lame back, and for three years with indigestion. I had tried a good deal; I could not sleep at night on account of the pain I suffered from my back. I had tried a great many different medicines, but never got any that would relieve this condition until I began to take your Plant Juice. Now I am completely cured, and my back does not trouble me any more. I sleep well at night, and feel rested and refreshed in the morning, and ready for a good day's work; my nerves are stronger, and I feel stronger and better in every way. I highly endorse Plant Juice."

The Plant Juice Man is at Dow's, the Druggists, in Merrimack Square, Lowell, where he is daily meeting the local public, and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

Chauffeurs Examined

The state examiners of the highway commission, who generally come to Lowell on Friday, came today on account of tomorrow being a legal holiday, and they examined some 30 prospective chauffeurs. Among the men examined were two from the town of Chelmsford, who qualified to operate the large Pierce-Arrow motor bus car which will be used by the town for the transportation of school children. This bus is the largest of its kind ever seen in this city, its seating capacity being forty.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN THE POLICE COURT

This morning's session of the police court was a comparatively short one, there being but few offenders to appear before Judge Wright.

Matthew Payton and Daniel Ready were charged with the larceny of a watch valued at $10 from Michael Duggan. According to the testimony offered by the latter, he was in an employment office in Middlesex street and placed his watch on a table. When he went to look for it he found it had disappeared and Payton and Ready were also missing. Duggan reported the matter to Patrolman Kilroy and Payton and Ready, who were found at the depot where he searched but the watch was not found. The two men were then taken to a nearby pawnshop where the clerk identified Ready as the thief who pawned a watch which was identified by Duggan. Payton denied any knowledge of the larceny.

In court this morning Ready said that a man gave him the watch to pawn and he received 50 cents which he turned over to the unknown man. The court, however, did not believe Ready's story and finding him guilty, imposed a fine of $20. Payton was found not guilty and discharged.

Motor Bus Law Violations

Leila Page was charged with two violations of the motor bus law, entered a plea of not guilty, but was found guilty and fined $10 on the first complaint and $15 on the second. He appealed.

Domestic Offenders

Max Armstrong, who appeared from a sentence to the state farm, was drawn his appeal and at his request was given a sentence of three months in jail instead.

Frank Teel, charged with drunkenness, was continued until Saturday night.

George F. Moran, who was drafted from New Haven and reported arrested on October 24 and left the camp the following day, reappeared in court this morning and Judge Wright told the man to ask the first officer for Ayer for if he did not report by night he would be posted as deserter.

Y.M.C.A. Fall Rally

The first rally for members of the Y.M.C.A. was held last evening in the well appointed building in John street and the affair was largely attended. The whole building was opened for the young women and all who attended spent a most enjoyable evening. A lively program of games was carried on in the gymnasium under the direction of the Y.M.C.A. secretary, while later in the evening a program of music was given in Kilson hall, where two vocalists, Lord Illin's Daughter, presented, "Lord Illin's Daughter," and "Mary Pickford's Week at the Association." The evening was brought to a close by the serving of ice cream and cake.

MILITARY SCHOOLS AT TRAINING CAMPS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Courses for the great military schools at divisional training camps have been marked out as carefully as those of high schools or colleges. The whole scheme of the 16-week course, to its minutest detail, is based on what Gen. Pershing and his officers already have learned on the other side. It will be varied as new lessons are learned at the fighting front. The plan is to divide the troops into infantry divisions uniformly organized, equipped and trained.

It will cut down materially the training time abroad. For the first five weeks the men will learn all about the mechanism of the rifle, theories of windage, elevation and the like. With the sixth week they will begin spending 16 hours a week at target practice. While one platoon or company is firing, the others will be at work estimating distances to train their eyes, studying the use of fire control instruments, range finders and observers' glasses.

The sample schedules show a full day of work from 7:30 a. m. to 4:40 p. m. except on Wednesday and Saturday, when the men will be allowed to do as they please after 1 p. m. Saturday morning is devoted to the review of the work covered will be reviewed and individuals or units be measured by high officers for efficiency. If below standard they will lose their afternoon leisure until they catch up.

Selection of men for special duties will not be made until the eleventh week. Up to the time the courses are all the same. Then the platoons will be picked over and the bombers, rifle grenadiers, snipers, sappers, signallers, runners, observers, estimators and machine gunners will be selected. Each man will go to the work which the general drill has shown him best fitted to perform. Officers and non-commissioned officers will have their own daily schools in addition. These must be fitted into the day or night and the men will have little time to devote to themselves throughout the entire course.

N. E. LIBERTY LOAN BONDS TOTAL $48,629,000

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—Total subscriptions in New England for the second Liberty loan as reported through the Federal Reserve bank of Boston today were $48,629,000, representing an over-night addition of $6,749,000. This figure is based on reports from 794 of the 1073 banks in the district.

For the third time in succession the daily total was well above the $6,000,000 mark. Massachusetts showed the largest gain, a big boost having been given the campaign in this state by the activity of business men of Worcester, who raised $2,400,000 in a whirlwind campaign yesterday.

Subscriptions by states, as tabulated at 9 a. m., today were:

Maine $2,298,000.
New Hampshire $1,381,000.
Vermont $1,877,000.
Rhode Island $7,731,000.
Connecticut $6,787,000.
Massachusetts $28,937,000.

Barre, Mass., is the first town in New England to report subscriptions in excess of its minimum allotment. With a minimum of $120,000 the general committee announced that Barre already had raised $118,000 and was waiting for the maximum of $134,000.

Tufts college notified the committee that it would close for one day and turn loose the entire student body as volunteer Liberty loan workers. The offer met with such favor at headquarters that the committee probably will ask all the colleges in New England to follow suit in order to put forward a powerful college drive.

New York Subscriptions

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The marked increase in the number of small subscriptions ranging from $50 to $500, announced yesterday indicated that the great campaign organization built up by the Liberty loan committee was beginning to reach the people of the second federal reserve bank district.

The total subscriptions to date amount to $264,100, and show that the loan is behind its schedule by $288,000,000.

BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD DIRECTORS RE-ELECTED YESTERDAY

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—But one discordant note was sounded yesterday at the meeting of the stockholders of the Boston & Maine railroad, and that was struck when Hagan Bogdan of Boston and Lancaster, cross-questioned President James H. Hustis regarding free passes and the salaries of lawyers and lobbyists retained by the corporation.

Conrad W. Crocker, representing prominent minority stockholders, tendered the olive branch and was rewarded when, for the first time in his experience, the stockholders agreed with him and passed his resolution setting forth reasons why the Boston & Maine should be given the right by the Interstate Commerce Commission to raise its rates to 15 per cent instead of 4 per cent, as recently authorized by that body.

The meeting witnessed a silent attempt by the minority stockholders to elect a new board of directors, set 4, 5; ward 5, 1; ward 6, 12; ward 7, 3; ward 8, 1; and ward 9, 5. Registration will go on again this evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Lemons Whiten and Beautify the Skin! Make Cheap Lotion

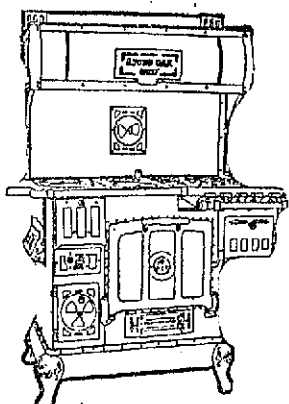

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of ordinary cold cream, makes a remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold cream. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in. Then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoothen and beautifier.

Just try it! Make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion of orange and lemon juice, and wash your face and hands. It freshens, naturally helps to whiten, softens, freckles and bring out the hidden roses and beauty of any skin. It is wonderful for rough, red hands. Your druggist will take three ounces of ordinary white lot cream, and any grocer will supply the lemons.

This was combined in a greased bread pan and baked in a pan of water for an hour, then served with tomato sauce and a sprinkling of parsley. Meat may be used instead of the nuts, the cooking time being cut in half.

Ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand, and thus be sure of getting the genuine.

NEW WORLD MARK BY LU PRINCETON

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 11.—Walter Cox of Dover, N. H., yesterday drove Lu Princeton to a world record for the fastest fifth heat, trotting, in the Ashland stakes for 213 trotters. Lu Princeton took the second, fourth and fifth heats. He made the second heat in 2.05, the fourth in 2.04, and the fifth in 2.05.

Lu Princeton is a bay horse, by San Francisco out of Lucinda. He is four years old and owned by Barton Pardee of Lockhaven, Pa. There were only two starters in the Ashland, the feature of yesterday's card, Royal Mac being the second, Murphy up. They got off in the first together, racing like a team until within 20 yards of the finish when Lu Princeton broke, losing the heat.

In the second, Cox simply outdrove Tommy Murphy, leading all the way, and there is where Lu Princeton first lowered his own record, which was 2.05. The third heat was a repetition of the first, Lu Princeton breaking about the same spot as in the first.

The fourth and fifth heats were taken easily by Lu Princeton, Royal Mac being three lengths back. Cox drove Barbara Lee in the 3-year-old trot, the last race of the day, but the Manrico filly was on her bad behavior and Cox finished out of the money.

The Real Lady yesterday set a new world record for 3-year-old trotters, trotting against time, at 2.03 flat. This beats the previous world record of 2.03, held jointly by Peter Volo and Mrs. Bertha Dillon.

She belongs to A. H. Cadden of New York, and was driven by Thomas W. Murphy. The Real Lady also holds the record for 2-year-olds of 2.04, made at Lexington last year. The summary:

LOWELL SOCIAL SERVICE LEAGUE STANDING

The annual meeting of the Lowell Social Service League was held yesterday afternoon, Dudley L. Page presiding. Considerable business was transacted and the report of the general secretary, Miss Mary Alma Collier, proved to be an interesting one. The report covered the work of the organization during the past year.

Miss Harriet Coburn was re-elected clerk; Julian B. Keyes, treasurer; and directors for three years ending 1920, as follows: Miss Harriet Coburn, Rev. Appleton Grannis, Miss May E. P. Lowrey, Robert F. Harbert, Rev. Herbert E. Benton, Otto Hoekmeyer, Rev. A. R. Hussey, Arthur T. Safford, E. F. Slatery.

The report of the general secretary

was, in part, as follows:
Since our last annual meeting, our nation has declared war and new problems, new anxieties have come. In the city's history there has probably never been a time when it was more important to maintain a high standard of efficiency among its families, rich and poor, when the strength and character of its people were more valuable. Was there ever a time then when it was more important to give good service to those of our community that are in need—whether the need is of financial assistance, or medical care, or opportunities for the handicapped, courage for the discouraged, advice for the fatherless, or protection for those in some way deprived of their normal protectors.

The Lowell Social Service League in the three departments of its work is eager to assist in any way possible, though it has been by lack of money which spells lack of time. In its confidential exchange, it offers to charitable agencies and individuals an opportunity to save effort and money, for both of which there is so much need; it offers different ones interested in the same family a chance to co-operate in whatever is decided upon at the best plan, instead of bewildering the family and themselves by not knowing of each other's interest, suggesting different plans, and perhaps thereby causing positive harm. In connection with its family work, any one may refer people to the league, whatever the nature of the trouble, whatever the race or creed, asking to have the assistance needed, whether material, moral or whatever, procured from the appropriate source—being willing, of course, to have any upon whom a burden rightfully falls, asked to do their part. It stands as the general practitioner, not wishing in any way to interfere with good work done by the specialist, whether the latter's skill is in medical, social service, in work for children, in relief-giving or other lines; in fact, referring to the specialist those needing his care. It realizes, however, that in some families, the exact trouble is not apparent on the surface and that in some, the trouble is a complicated one that does not come entirely within the care of any specialist. Some assistance is needed to learn with kindness and skill just what the real trouble is and then to see that the remedy is procured from the proper source. (Some that do not come under any specialist, in fact, are practical naturally keeps under his own care.) Thirdly, the league aims to be of assistance in efforts to "promote the general welfare" by co-operating with others or by introducing helpful movements.

In the confidential exchange from Sept. 1, 1916, to Sept. 1, 1917, 1636 inquiries were registered. At the end of the fiscal year, there were 3985 family cards with names of from one to 12 or more agencies or individuals interested in each one. This does not mean that so many families have received material assistance; in some instances, a children's agency has been interested and probably wished to be of assistance in some way. It also was working for the same family, or even inquired about a foster-home before placing a child; other inquiries have come from medical agencies, relief-giving societies, church organizations and other groups. Some of the 3985 have now doubtless moved from Lowell, but which the increased co-operation among cities, each is likely to get the benefit of the others' information.

You, as members of the league, are urged to encourage charitable agencies and individuals to inquire at the confidential exchange, to learn who else is interested in their families, so that co-operation, more readily accomplished and less harm caused.

In the "family-work" since the league's activities began in 1915, we have been asked to assist in solving problems of 688 families—of these were new from Sept. 1, 1916, to Sept. 1, 1917. The 688 include some not strictly under our care, in which we were asked to assist as in living relations. Interest has been continued in a number of the families known before Sept. 1, 1916, and in some, marked improvements have been reported. Under "is it Worth While" last year we told the stories of two families that were in pathetically hard straits when first known to the league, in one instance because of physical handicap, in one probably because of lack of character. Both, after much effort on the part of volunteers of the league, were finally self-supporting. It is encouraging now to report that the improved conditions remained, and that both families have continued to be in comfortable circumstances, self-supporting and now probably in position to help others. These were only two of many problems. Included in the families of this fiscal year are some where either father or mother is dead, or has deserted, or is physically in poor health, or is insane; some where a child is crippled, epileptic or otherwise in need of special care; people of advanced age who find it difficult to live; families where the need is a temporary one due, for instance, to sickness, or to supporting a family that can be overcome—All of these too important to be neglected.

In 1916, when soldiers from Lowell were sent to the Mexican border, the Lowell soldiers' fund fund turned to the league for visits to the homes of dependents, again in the summer of 1917, the Red Cross did the same. Since Aug. 8, the Red Cross the Lowell committee on public safety and the state aid department have all referred problems of soldiers' dependents to us. In October, 1917, the Massachusetts state conference of charities met at Lowell, giving us an opportunity to hear people of widely different opinions and of varied experiences discuss matters of importance to the city and state. The hospitality of Lowell was very much appreciated, and the conference was considered a success.

In the spring of 1917, appreciating the value of trained volunteer service, the league gave, under the auspices of the Red Cross, a course in emergency social service or emergency relief intended for volunteers who would be of service to the city in event of a serious disaster. There were eight meetings with an average attendance of 21.

Of particular importance in the league's activities has been the work of volunteers. Some have assisted in clerical work, some in stenographic, some in co-operating with other agencies, some in visits to families. Besides giving their services at the time, the volunteers gain experience and in some instances training that make them more valuable to the community. These seem to be at present serious need of trained volunteer service not only in the league but elsewhere for some of the many tasks that are too important to entrust to the inexperienced and untrained even though well-intentioned.

For the league, I want to express appreciation to those that have given services, money or other gifts, including Miss Ella M. Wells, who so generously allowed us to profit from her play; and to the agencies, private and public, that have co-operated with us, in our common aim to be of service. My own appreciation, I wish also to add; and particularly I want to thank those officers and directors that have given devoted interest and effort, standing by the organization in its pioneer days, knowing the work to be ultimately ready, if need be, to bear objections and then to learn the true situation; and working with earnestness to help the league in its aim to be of service to the people of Lowell.

SOMEONE'S SADDLE
Two boys, carrying a riding saddle, were seen to enter Thompson's field in upper Broadway last night by Patrolman James R. McNally and upon being followed the boys dropped the saddle and took to their heels. The saddle was sent to the police station where it awaits an owner.

Everybody who has read The Sun's Sunday Supplement, published on Saturday, has words of praise for it.

URGENT SUBSTITUTE FOR WOOL IN CLOTHES
NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—A resolution urging American manufacturers to conserve wool by using substitutes in fabrics in civilian clothes so that there may be sufficient wool for the army and navy requirements was adopted yesterday by 300 men meeting here as representatives of the nation's wool industries. This action was taken on recommendation by the committee on supplies of the council of national defense and the commercial economy board.

A report of the joint wool conservation committee declared that the increasing price of wool had forced woolen mills to resort to making cotton warps instead of all-wool fabrics, and that in order to keep mills not equipped for using cotton warps in operation, the need for raw wool was increasing.

The committee pointed out that this situation could be relieved if the government could arrange with Great Britain for the release of from 200,000 to 300,000,000 pounds of Australian and New Zealand wools for shipment to this country and also provide a market for the supply as well as the South American "clip" due in the market Oct. 1.

J. C. Hoyle, former minister of railways of New South Wales, was quoted as having urged that American manufacturers and business men "see to it that the United States takes the place formerly occupied by Germany in the trading with Australia." He declared Australians will not desire commercial relations with Germany after the war, and the deal would be open there for this country.

The urgent need of France for war material from the United States was set forth by Andre Tardieu, French high commissioner to the United States, in an address at the association's banquet tonight.

"France needs war material," he said, "her army today is still holding almost three-quarters of the French front, and during the following months she will act as the rampart of the American army in training near the front, while our plants manufacture a large part of the guns to be used by your troops during the next few months."

THE WAR NEWS

There can no longer be any doubt as to the overpowering force with which the Allies are hammering the enemy on the western front. Formerly the despatches printed in the press were such as to give no positive proof of Allied gain. In many cases the Allied claims of victory were contradicted by German reports so that the reader was unable to decide which was right.

This situation has been relieved by General Pershing who has cabled an account of the splendid work being done by the British and the French on the western front and attaching the greatest importance to the campaign now being conducted by General Haig in Flanders.

Secretary Baker in a review of the recent events in the war also indicates that the Allies have made important gains in the past few weeks and that at present the British threaten the Ostend-Lille railroad and the submarine bases on the coast.

Already the heights commanding the level plain leading to the coast have been captured and unless the bad weather intervenes the Germans may be driven from their principal strongholds in Belgium before Christmas. At the same time the toll of the submarines has been cut down to such an extent that the marine insurance of ships crossing the Atlantic from these shores has been materially reduced.

All this is very encouraging. The more the Allies do now the less the United States troops will have to do in the spring.

Germany's ideal of world dominion is already smashed, her plan for a Central Europe empire from the North Sea to the Persian Gulf will also be shattered in the near future. Germany had also planned a middle African domain, but that hope has vanished as has her vaulting ambition to conquer the United States and seize South America.

For forty years the Kaiser has been dreaming of Pan-Germanism and he has openly proclaimed himself as the instrument of God to carry out his plan of Germanizing the world. Fortunately for the world the ravages of this monster of cruelty, this wreck of civilization, have been checked and his final defeat is now inevitable, whether it comes this year or next year. He is strenuously seeking a peace that will save him from a worse fate than that which befell Napoleon.

FOR INDUSTRIAL PEACE

It is highly gratifying that the local mills granted an increase of wages so promptly. The sum of $28,000 distributed through the city in addition to the wages formerly drawn will help to meet the demands of the winter. Moreover, this voluntary increase will insure industrial peace which never was more essential than at present.

There has been a small but yet a very annoying strike on here for several weeks, the merits of which we do not know.

The men on strike may be justified in their position or they may not; but we do know that there should be no strike in any mechanical trade in the country at this time. Whatever the differences may be between employer and employed they should be submitted to arbitration and settled without further ado. It is unpatriotic to tie up any industry that might help in the war either directly or indirectly and there is none that cannot do its share in one of these two ways.

While men are idle they are not earning money to purchase Liberty bonds, while industries are idle they destroy the earning power of the employees and thus directly oppose the aims of the government which demands service from all residents, young and old, rich and poor, for the duration of the war.

These long drawn out labor disputes should be abandoned at least while the war lasts. They are simply ruinous to all concerned in times like these. The parties concerned should call in the arbitrators and let all such disputes be settled without stopping the wheels of progress and industry.

It would be well if we had compulsory arbitration, but in the absence of any such remedy, the parties to every dispute over labor conditions or wages should so far regard the interests of the nation as to find a peaceable means of settling all such differences as may arise during the war.

Industrial peace during the war should be adopted as a principle by all unions and all employers. Both sides will be benefited in the long run by submitting such questions to arbitration.

HUMAN HARPIS AT WORK

Occasionally the worst afflictions of mankind are made use of for the purposes of fraud.

A few weeks ago somebody started chain letters each asking a contribution of 24 cents for the purpose of buying anesthetics to be used in surgical operations in treating the men wounded in the war. The claim is made in the letters that anesthetics are lacking on the battlefronts and that as a result operations entailing frightful pain are performed without their use.

These letters have been brought to the attention of the war department which has inquired of the French and English war offices and received the reply that no such need exists, that there has always been an abundant supply of anesthetics for such operations.

Other frauds less appealing are being conducted by parties who have no intention of turning the money they collect over to the various relief funds. The public must therefore, exercise caution in dealing with the indiscriminate appeals for relief funds. There are so many deserving claims for relief that it is a pity to allow any swindler to victimize the charitably disposed. The men or women who do these things are veritable human harpies, quite as bad as the wretch who made a tour of New England and collected money from the relatives of soldiers for the purpose of sending the ashes of the heroes in special urns from France, even when the soldiers concerned were alive and well.

It is too bad that such people cannot be made to taste the ignominy they willfully bring to their dupes.

GIRLS IN THE BOWLING ALLEYS

We have no doubt that the intention of those who would employ young girls to set up pins on bowling alleys may be good, but we are emphatically opposed to the employment of girls for any such purpose. There are many occupations in which young girls may properly be substituted for boys, but this is not one of them. The position of the uniformed girl setting up pins in a bowling alley either by day or by night would, in our humble opinion, be dangerous in more ways than one, and would moreover, be a step toward the degradation of the sex that should not be countenanced. There are boys in plenty to do this work and they will do it gladly if the rate of wages be such as to offer any inducement.

COLUMBUS DAY

There will be no Columbus Day parades this year. The money usually expended on celebrations will be used to help purchase Liberty Bonds. That is the best kind of celebration for this year.

The talks in the schools on fire prevention are likely to have good results. That kind of instruction cannot be started too early.

An eight-page illustrated Sunday Supplement is given away free with Saturday's editions of The Sun—don't miss it.

SEEN AND HEARD

Save your money—it is wiser—Buy a bond and can the Kaiser.

You can't go out with a double-barreled shot gun and find the Kaiser. The only way to take a long-distance crack at him is to buy a Liberty bond.

Editorial Opulence

We are glad to state that since our coming to Duxbury we have been able to be an exception to the rule in the tradition of printers and we have had a little bank account with a credit balance most of the time. Sept. 1 that balance in our favor in the Northern bank was 35 cents. We do not wish to boast, but merely to show our friends and patrons, that we are, financially speaking, a sound institution and assure them that when they deposit a dollar with us they may rest contented that it is in safe hands. We pay interest 32 times a year. Let us have your deposit.—Dundurn, Sask. Enterprise.

Aristocracy

Aristocrats: we need them in this land. Not gold aristocrats or those of birth. But true aristocrats of valid worth. Fitted to follow or to lead. Command. Whoever takes his place on hand. To serve the world more ably than his neighbor.

Whoever dignifies his daily labor With zeal to learn and zest to understand Is an aristocrat. Who dream more nobly, think more wisely, plan To better purpose and, with brain and nerve, Devote themselves to life's brave arduous tasks. They are the aristocracy of those who serve.

He canned peaches and he canned pears, he canned tomatoes and he canned potatoes and now he's canned himself. Every morning Hubbell has given a demonstration on canning. "And then you add more sugar," Hubbell continued, getting ready to measure the amount to be added. "How much sugar?" screamed the chorus and someone remarked on the might of Hubbell's apron.

PRES. WILSON PROCLAIMS U.S. FOOD CONTROL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Government control of foodstuffs is extended to take in virtually all the essential articles of diet by a proclamation issued last night by President Wilson directing the food administration to license after Nov. 1 the manufacture, storage, importation and distribution of some 20 prime commodities. Many small dealers are exempted, as farmers, who were especially exempted in the food control law.

The move was forecast in a statement last night by the food administration declaring it was necessary to prevent unreasonable profits and to stop hoarding and speculation.

After quoting the food control act under which the action is taken, the president's proclamation says: "It is essential in order to carry into effect the purposes of said act, to license the importation, manufacture, storage and distribution of necessities to the extent hereinafter specified."

"All persons, firms, corporations and associations engaged in the business of: (1) Operating cold storage warehouses for food storage; (2) Operating elevators, warehouses or other places for storage of corn, oats, barley, beans, rice, cottonseed, cottonseed cake, cottonseed meal or peanut meal; (3) Importing, manufacturing (including milling, mixing or packing) or distributing (including buying or selling) any of the following commodities:

Food Articles Affected: "Wheat, wheat flour, rye or rye flour. "Barley or barley flour. "Oats, oatmeal or rolled oats. "Corn, corn grits, cornmeal, hominy, corn flour, starch from corn, oil, corn syrup or glucose. "Rice, rice flour. "Beans. "Peas or dried peas. "Cottonseed, cottonseed oil, cottonseed meal. "Peanut oil or peanut meal. "Soya bean oil, soya bean meal, palm oil or copra oil. "Oleomargarine, lard, lard substitutes, oleo oil or cooking fats. "Milk, butter or cheese. "Canned pears, dried beans, tomatoes, corn, salmon or sardines. "Dried prunes, apples, peaches or raisins. "Sugar, sirups or molasses. "Any hereby required to secure on or before Nov. 1, 1917, a license, which license will be issued under such rules and regulations governing the conduct of the business as may be prescribed.

Penalties $5000 or Two Years: "Applications for the license must be made to the United States food administration, Washington, D. C., last department, license division, on forms prepared by it in advance for that purpose, which may be secured on request. "Any person, firm or corporation or association other than those heretofore executed, who shall engage in or carry on any business hereinafter specified after Nov. 1, 1917, without first securing such license will be liable to the penalty prescribed by said act of congress.

The penalties prescribed for violation of the act are a fine of $5000 or imprisonment of not more than two years.

List of Exemptions: "The exceptions referred to above are given as follows: "Exemptions, however, the following: "Operators of all elevators or warehouses handling wheat or rye, and managers of the derivative products of wheat or rye, who have already been licensed. "Importers, manufacturers and refiners of sugar and manufacturers of sugar sirups and molasses, who have already been licensed. "Retailers whose gross sales of food commodities do not exceed $100,000 per annum. "Common carriers. "Farmers, carpenters, co-operative associations of farmers or gardeners, including livestock farmers, and other persons with respect to the products of any farm, garden or other land owned, leased or cultivated by them. "Persons slaughtering, packing and distributing fresh, canned or cured beef, pork or mutton whose gross sales of such commodities does not exceed $100,000 per annum. "Operators of poultry or egg packing plants whose gross sales do not exceed $50,000 per annum. "Manufacturers of maple sirup, maple sugar and maple compound. ASSOCIATE JUSTICE JOHN HENRY HARDY OF MASS. SUPERIOR COURT DEAD

ARLINGTON, Oct. 11.—Associate Justice John Henry Hardy of the Massachusetts superior court died at his home here last night. He was stricken with pneumonia three days ago. Judge Hardy, who was born in Hollis, N. H., in 1817 served in a New Hampshire regiment in the Civil war and was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1870. He practiced law in Boston for many years and served on the Boston municipal bench. He was appointed to the superior bench by Gov. Wolcott in 1896.

More money was raised for the soldiers' tobacco fund from the collection taken up at Keith's theatre last night when $127.65 was realized. As on the night before Mayor O'Donnell addressed the audience and explained the nature of the fund. Following his talk members of the week's bill went round with plates. The contributions were liberal. Tonight the mayor will again appear and tomorrow night Robert F. Marden is scheduled to speak.

WILL SHIP 8,000,000 Bushels CARROU, Oct. 10.—The total shipment of potatoes from Arrostook this year up to Oct. 8 has been 1991 carloads. Last year during the same period the shipments were 581 cars. The present price, however, is much above that of last year at this time. Good judges estimate that Arrostook county will not have more than 8,000,000 bushels to ship this year.

MORE MONEY RAISED FOR SOLDIERS' TOBACCO FUND AT KEITH'S THEATRE

ARLINGTON, Oct. 11.—Associate Justice John Henry Hardy of the Massachusetts superior court died at his home here last night. He was stricken with pneumonia three days ago. Judge Hardy, who was born in Hollis, N. H., in 1817 served in a New Hampshire regiment in the Civil war and was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1870. He practiced law in Boston for many years and served on the Boston municipal bench. He was appointed to the superior bench by Gov. Wolcott in 1896.

More money was raised for the soldiers' tobacco fund from the collection taken up at Keith's theatre last night when $127.65 was realized. As on the night before Mayor O'Donnell addressed the audience and explained the nature of the fund. Following his talk members of the week's bill went round with plates. A Great Responsibility.

THE responsibility attached to the preparing of a remedy for infants and children is undoubtedly greater than that imposed upon the manufacturer of remedies for adults whose system is sufficiently strong to counteract, for a time at least, any injurious drug. It is well to observe that Castoria is prepared today, as it has been for the past 40 years, under the personal supervision of Mr. Chas. H. Fletcher.

What have makers of imitations and substitutes at stake? What are their responsibilities? To whom are they answerable? They spring up today, scatter their nefarious wares broadcast, and disappear tomorrow.

Could each mother see the painstaking care with which the prescription for Fletcher's Castoria is prepared: could they read the innumerable testimonials from grateful mothers, they would never listen to the subtle pleadings and false arguments of those who would offer an imitation of, or substitute for, the tried and true Fletcher's Castoria.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Extracts from Letters by Grateful Parents to Chas. H. Fletcher.

G. J. English, of Springfield, Mass., says: "It was your Castoria that saved my child."

Mrs. Mary McGinnis, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "We have given our baby your Castoria ever since she was born, and we recommend it to all mothers."

N. F. Calmes, of Marion, Ky., says: "You have the best medicine in the world, as I have given your Castoria to my babies from first to last."

Mrs. Albert Urmey, of Lawrenceburg, Ind., says: "As I have had your Castoria in use for nearly three years, I am pleased to say it is just as represented. My children are both well and happy—thanks to Castoria."

R. P. Stockton, of New Orleans, La., says: "We began giving your Castoria to our baby when he was eight days old and have kept it up ever since, never having had to give any other medicine."

Mrs. Dolph Hornbuckle, of Colorado Springs, Colo., says: "We commenced giving your Castoria to our baby when she was four weeks old. She is now seven months and weighs 19 1/2 pounds. Everyone remarks: 'What a healthy looking baby.' We give Castoria credit for it."

SAYS CONGRESS MUST PASS NEW DRAFT LAW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Representative Kahn of California, the republican who led the administration forces in the house when the army draft law was passed, said yesterday a new draft act would have to be passed at the next session of congress to reach the many young men who have become 21 years of age since May 18 last, and that it probably would amend the existing law so as to register youths from 16 or 17 to become automatically subject to call on reaching the age of 21.

Mr. Kahn also said he intended to make a fight for a universal training law and an act to deal with alien slackers without violating treaty obligations.

"Sixty per cent. of the American boys are being rejected for physical disability, a per centage that is appalling," said Mr. Kahn. "That means that six out of every 10 young men between the ages of 21 and 31 are so deficient physically that they cannot be taken into the United States army, a fact that must be a revelation to thinking people of the country, though the proportion of the deficient is not quite so great as was the case in England. Universal training would give the young men thorough knowledge of hygiene and sanitation and would develop a race of men strong physically and mentally."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Heading a bill of superior merit at the B. F. Keith theatre this week, is the noted lyric tenor, Will Oakland, in a decidedly pretty sketch called "Danny O'Gill, U.S.A." Oakland appears to particular advantage in this little play. Of course, beyond all else, he is the natural singer, who delights in giving the old songs, although not adverse to pealing forth the better of the popular numbers. As the young Irishman who returns to his native land from America, Oakland has a dash and jauntiness to him which is bound to make an appeal.

And, then, there is "New York, 1917," a comedy by Carson & Willard, which isn't like anything we have had here this year. It shows Manhattan today—and thirty years hence. It shows the men of today, and what they may be expected to look like in 1947. And there is decidedly breezy comedy playing all through it.

Maleta Bonconi is, without doubt, the most finished violin virtuoso who has appeared at this theatre in many months. An artist to her finger tips, she draws out most charming melodies—classics, every one of them. Everywhere she has been lauded for her exceptional work.

For eccentric dancing that is away from the ordinary routine of such acts, let us commend you to the work of Charles and Adelaide Wilkins. How the woman teaches—or tries to teach—the man the tango, causes a lot of hearty laughter. Clara and strictly Barry the two lively daughters of the only Jimmie Barry, present the best mixture of song, dancing and fun they have ever had. It is done to a nicety. The opening act of the bill is by Zeda & Hoot, who have a contortionistic fantasy. The week's big picture feature is "Fighting Odds," with beautiful Maxine Elliott in the principal role. The Hearst-Pathe pictures are also commendatory.

OPERA HOUSE

A theatre party, composed of members of Lowell lodge of Elks, will attend the performance of "The Lost Paradise," by the Emerson Players at the Opera House tonight, as a testimony to Roy Walling and Jerome Kennedy, brother members of the same lodge. This play is scoring one of the biggest hits of the season and richly deserves the many favorable reports being accorded it from all sides. The striking scene especially of the Summer street Fleming as the spokesman for the laboring class presents the claims of the workers, is filled with thrilling scenes and action. Roy Walling is another member of the cast who finds himself well cast in the role of "Reuben Warner," the superintendent of the factory who sticks by his men even at the threatened loss of his position and the love and respect of the girl he hopes to win. Miss Wellington is also found in a congenial role, while the remainder of the supporting cast is well assigned. The staging of the piece is wonderfully well done and must be seen to be best appreciated.

THE STRAND

Beginning today and continuing through Saturday the program at The Strand will include that wonderful photo-drama, "To the Death," introduced by Miss Petrova, the great Russian actress in the title role. A finely balanced cast has been selected to produce this Metro wonder-play in which Miss Petrova interprets the stellar part of "Diana Syva," the beautiful Corsican lace-maker. Those who have witnessed the pictureization unhesitatingly pronounce it one of the greatest highly dramatic and interesting shown in many months. The story of the picture play offers opportunity for tense, thrilling dramatic endeavor. The added feature for the week-end program is "Polly Ann," a five-act production in which Bessie Love is the central figure. The comedy offering is a Keystone production, entitled "The Pawnbroker's Heart," and the educational picture will be a series of views of Uncle Sam's great salmon ranches. The picture shows you where the salmon comes from and the various characteristics of the game fish in the world. The Travelogue will be another interesting and instructive feature that will be greatly appreciated. The song numbers by The Strand Singers, Miss Joseph Iseloh, soloist, will be all new and the selections by the big Strand Symphony orchestra, Arthur J. Martel conductor, will also be new. The original musical will include new numbers as well.

On Friday, Columbus day, the performance will run from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m. The prices of seats are 10 and 15 cents for matinees, and 25 cents for boxes and loges; night 15 and 25 cents, with loges and box seats at 50 cents. Loges and box seat tickets will be reserved on telephone or by mail to the Strand, 11 a. m. to 7 p. m. on the day of the performance. Evening prices will prevail at Sunday and holiday matinees.

MOTORMAN IN BRIDGE TRAGEDY TESTIFIES

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—Gerald Walsh, 26, motorman on the ill-fated electric car that plunged through the draw of the Summer street extension bridge into Fort Point channel, testified in the superior criminal court yesterday at his trial before Judge Dana and a jury on an indictment accusing him of manslaughter through alleged recklessness and negligent handling of the cars.

He came from Ireland two or three years ago. On June 8, 1916, he went to work as an extra motorman and was over the route of the Summer street bridge before the day of the accident. He knew there was a draw there.

He picked the 5.13 trip on Nov. 7 and took the car from the barn at South Boston. He said he slowed down at Fletcher street to allow a passenger to get on and then he passed on again and the car was going at about eight or 10 miles an hour when within 25 or 30 feet from the gates of the draw he noticed the gates were closed.

He became excited and it was a second or two before he got control of himself. Then he tried to stop the car. The rail was damp and the brake worked hard. It was also difficult to use the brake because of the crowd on the platform.

The car went through the gates and he almost stopped, but he saw the car would not stop before it reached the open draw. He yelled out to the passengers and all on the front platform got off. He was the last to jump off the platform.

He had then applied his reverse and the brakes and could do nothing further. When he jumped off the car, when he started to get up the car was lopping over the edge of the bridge into the channel. He said he could not get at the sand pile because of the crowd on the platform.

He said it was dark at the bridge; the car lights were not lighted and there was no red lantern on the gate. The headlight of his car threw a light about 10 feet.

MANSFIELD BLAMES M'CALL FOR HIGH PRICES

HUDSON, Oct. 11.—Frederick W. Mansfield, democratic candidate for governor, speaking at rallies last night here and in Maynard, assailed Gov. McCall for failing to use the power, over the necessities of life given him by a recent act of the legislature to reduce prices.

This act, said Mr. Mansfield, gives the governor power "to investigate the holdings of food in cold storage warehouses, the supplying of coal, clothing and materials for shelter; it gives him power to seize any part of these articles if he deems it necessary; to regulate railroad cars, locomotives, motor trucks, trolley cars, steamboats, railroad lines and what property for the purpose of distributing such necessities of life to the people; it gives him power to regulate prices and fix the maximum charge for which the necessities of life shall be sold; it gives him more power than Mr. Hoover has; it gives him more power than Mr. Hoover has; it gives him more power than Mr. Hoover has."

"Yet, notwithstanding the suffering of the poor people, the constantly increasing prices for the necessities of life, and notwithstanding the countless complaints, he has done absolutely nothing about it. He has not raised his finger or his voice to give the people any relief under the tremendous powers granted to him under this act."

"The governor cannot say that there has been no cause to use the act. A committee of labor men walked upon him and asked him to do something about it, but they were ignored."

"The reports from Washington show that the holdings of food in the cold storage warehouses of New England at the present time average 150 per cent. higher than they were a year ago. There are millions more pounds of beef and tallow; millions more cases of eggs, and the same is true of pork, lamb and almost all food products. Yet, notwithstanding this greater supply of foods the prices are still higher."

"Why has the governor done nothing about this? An enormous increase in the price of food has taken place in prices was unjustified and that the food barons of the country are taking advantage of the war to rob the people of their money."

"If I were governor of this commonwealth and had that tremendous power, I would exercise it. I would at least try to do something for the people and I would do it. I am an elected governor I will do all that one man can do to bring down the cost of necessities of life to the poor."

Other speakers at the rallies were Roger Sherman Hoar, ex-Senator Charles McCarthy, Major Thos. Walsh and Whitfield Tuck.

HAPPIEST WOMAN IN NEW ENGLAND FOUND IN FALL RIVER

Says Health is Wonderful Blessing—Suffered Years From Chronic Rheumatism of Joints

"Health is a wonderful blessing. One never appreciates good health until attacked by disease. I am rich in health today; that's why I believe I am the happiest woman in the body, my knees were very bad so that it was almost impossible to go up or down stairs, the stiffness was intense after sitting down any length of time and attempting to get up.

"I know I neglected my health, for when I first noticed the pains I paid very little attention to them. Finally the joints got so stiff and painful I had to give up completely. Two physicians treated me but failed to relieve the pain. For weeks at a time I was confined to my bed and after getting up I was just able to limp about.

"I was unable to bend my knee and when I walked on the street attracted attention because I was so lame. My ankles troubled me, a great deal and for four months I was confined to the house, only able to move about with the greatest effort and suffering constantly.

"Reading so much about Var-ne-sis and what it was doing for others suffering the same as I was I made up my mind I would give it a trial. I thank God I found this good remedy. It was a wonderful find for me. After taking Var-ne-sis for some time all the pain and stiffness left me. I am today free from rheumatism and haven't an ache or a pain.

"I owe my good health to Var-ne-sis and want to do all I can to help others find health as I have."

W. A. Varney says: "Var-ne-sis conquers rheumatism. The evidence I am constantly producing no one can dispute. Every testimonial I publish is a true statement of facts. I will pay the expense of three business men to investigate the evidence I produce, providing they will allow me to publish the results over their names. Can I do more?"

You ought to read "The Rust of Human Hinges," just off the press. It's free. Just address W. A. Varney, Lynn, Mass.

Var-ne-sis does not contain salicylate of soda, iodides, pepper or capsicum, but is composed of herbs, roots and barks. Var-ne-sis tends to help the stomach.

My collection of wheel chairs, crutches, canes and letters or display at my Boston office, 140 Boylston street, is open to the public. The names and addresses are on each article and I court investigation of each case.

of the meeting that a minimum charge be added to the expense of delivery of small orders. There were several new members admitted.

The regular meeting of Lowell lodge, Royal Order of Moose, was held last night at its quarters in Old Fellows building. Dictator John E. MacCallum presiding. Secretary Keegan read a communication from National Director Hayden pertaining to the war relief work that the order contains plates doing, not only in this country, but in France.

It is the intention of the commission, formed to direct the expenditure of $200,000 voted at the recent convention in Pittsburg, to erect club houses behind the lines in France, to which members may come during their periods of rest, also to obtain comfortable quarters for wounded and convalescent members. The ambulances provided for by the war contribution fund will be guided by the commission through the direct control of the American Red Cross. Widows and orphans of members in the service will of course be cared for. Fifteen applications were then received and acted upon favorably after which Chairman Edward St. Leger of the organization committee reported that a large class initiation would be held on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 25. Under good of the order the following brothers made the following remarks. Messrs. Ernest P. Parsons, Richard J. Flynn, Arthur Papz and Edward Goodson.

MATHEWS HONOR GREAT APOSTLE'S MEMORY

The Mathew Temperance Institute fittingly observed the 127th anniversary of the birth of its founder, Rev. Theobald Mathew, last evening with a banquet in the institute hall which entailed all the usual features of such affairs as well as several innovations. The patriotic element seemed to dominate. The Mathews themselves, ever noted for their love of country, perhaps reached the maximum of patriotic display last evening. The scene of the affair, the hall itself, was replete with the national colors. The speakers of the evening could not refrain from exclaiming, intermittently, at least, patriotic notes in their addresses. But perhaps most impressive of all was the presence of a number of young men in uniform—members of the "Mats," yes, but before all else, members of their country's fighting forces.

The evening's program presented a number of prominent and interesting speakers. Mayor O'Donnell, Gen. Gardner W. Pearson and Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, Ph. D., were the principal ones and they each spoke on topics which were varied yet subtly related with the spirit of Mathewdom.

Caterer Harvey was chosen the most popular gentleman on last evening's program. He served a menu which would make Mr. Hoover blush even though the war were over. Everybody had plenty and when the tables had been cleared the Mathews and their lady friends—for there were many of them present—sat back to listen to the speakers and entertainers. President John J. Townsend was the first speaker and he spoke in a congratulatory vein welcoming those present. He told of the underlying purpose of the evening's occasion and said that it was fitting that the Mathew Temperance Institute should observe the 10th of October for two reasons: One that it marked the anniversary of the birth of Fr. Mathew and another because it ushered in the fall and winter activities of the organization.

In concluding he introduced John W. Sharkey as toastmaster of the evening. Mr. Sharkey was received enthusiastically and before introducing the other speakers he reviewed the history of the Mathews in Lowell from the time of the institute's inception. He also told of the wide influence which it had attained in the city as an instrument of good. In conclusion he introduced Warren Kane in several solos.

Mr. Kane, accompanied by Miss Es-ther Kane, sang the difficult "Old McStrain" and an encore "You Brought Ireland Over to Me." Both numbers were well received.

Mayor O'Donnell was the next speaker and he spoke in part as follows:

It is eminently fitting that the mayor, as official representative of the community when honor and reverence are paid to the memory of the great apostle of temperance, the Rev. Theobald Mathew, for through his presence among us and his efforts years ago the city of Lowell was given an organization that has had a wonderful influence for good for over half a century.

We are told in the history of our city that Fr. Mathew came here in 1849 and that he was the first to bring the message of 5000 men, in days when Lowell was young and struggling, and that from among these men was organized the Mathew Temperance Institute. Fr. Mathew and his faithful 5000 of Lowell have since passed away but they have left behind as a legacy this splendid organization. Through all the changing years and conditions it has endured, and as long as the blood of those 5000 men of long ago continues to course the veins of posterity, so long shall it continue to endure. Its mission is a noble one and its activities have borne abundant fruit. The Mathew Temperance Institute has done a great amount of good for the men of Lowell, but at no time in its long and honorable career has it been confronted with greater opportunities for the propagation of its principles of Fr. Mathew than at the present time.

On every side we hear of special legislation by our lawmakers, partnerships by our public safety committee and added vigilance on the part of those entrusted with the duties of law enforcement, all for one reason—the purpose, the moral welfare of the young men who have been called to our country's defense. To protect our soldiers from hidden or disguised influences of the internal enemy is the aim of all of us at home, and nowhere else will the young soldier find the invulnerable protection offered by such an organization as the Mathew Temperance Institute. I am proudly aware of the fact that among Lowell's quota of enlisted and drafted men are many members of this organization, and I am confident that they will make their influence felt wherever they may go. But there is great work to be done by you who remain at home.

Our clubs and organizations must assist in this work of looking after the visiting soldier, and I feel confident that the Mathews will do their part. Throw open your rooms to the soldiers. Invite them to participate in your entertainments and your games, make them at home, treat them as friends and neighbors, and by so doing you will not only keep them free from temptation but you will uphold your city's good name and reputation for hospitality and moral cleanliness, and you will win a gallant victory for the cause whose great apostle we honor on this the anniversary of his natal day.

Miss May Burke followed his Honor with a brace of unusually pleasing solo numbers. Her first offering was "Until," a composition which calls for excellent control and Miss Burke met the demand fully. Her second number was the ever enjoyable "Last Rose of Summer" and here, too, she displayed innate ability. Miss Burke was accompanied by Miss Lillian Burke.

Spiritual Director Rev. Dr. Keleher, the spiritual director of the Mathews, was introduced by the toastmaster as "a man who does everything in his power for the Mathew Temperance Institute." Dr. Keleher spoke on "Fr. Mathew." He gave a short resume of the early life of the great apostle and told what influence his teachings have had all over the world. He localized this statement by saying that even such great city as Lowell was not free from the dreadful results of the liquor habit and he urged that the members of the Mathews do everything in their power to help curb the evil.

Miss Florence McManus then offered "Neath the Autumn Moon" and "For You a Rose." In a manner which brought out the singer's versatility, she was accompanied by John J. McGlinchey.

General Pearson Gen. Gardner W. Pearson was assigned the topic, "Our Army," but in opening he said he wished to amplify this a little. He would speak on "Our Army—And Run." His address was in part as follows:

Yours is not merely a social club, it is an association with a mission. That mission is to improve the moral and physical welfare of young men by teaching temperance, of total abstinence from alcoholic liquors.

For 20 years I have felt that I had a mission of helping to organize the fighting forces of the nation. Just at this time it looks very much as if our paths had crossed or joined and it is upon that coming together of your mission and mine that I am going to talk.

We already have thousands of soldiers in France and we are training hundreds of thousands, if not millions, or we are about to train them—for what? To defend this country from invasion? No, we do not fear an invasion. We are training them to go to France to drive out the Germans and to capture Berlin.

We are preparing an army of millions to fight for liberty and justice, not only in Massachusetts or in the United States, but anywhere in the world where liberty and justice are threatened.

We all know that a vice grows, like cancer, or rust, when it once takes hold of a growth and grows and grows. Whether it is tobacco, opium, alcohol or selfishness, the vice never stands still. Worst still, a vice like alcohol only destroys the father, but it goes out in the son and grandson. If we look into the history of America we shall find that the American Indian had a disease which was the result of the rum habit. We shall find that the moonshine whiskey districts are apt to be the same as those where the poor white man lives and that there is a steady degeneration from father to son.

In a small town within 40 miles of New York, with less than a thousand people, I counted six barrooms, half a mile of the railroad station, and I found that the worst educated, least progressive, most degenerate people, the outcasts, inhabiting the district most progressive and best educated were the Italians who had come in recently. I believe it is a matter of history that the outcasts of the British Empire, before the Civil war were made by shipping sugar from the south to Salem to Boston, turning it into rum, exchanging the rum for negroes for more sugar down south. I remember in Porto Rico in 1893, we were told to put a little rum in the hands of the natives, and the natives, but while I never saw a drunkard in Porto Rico, I saw very few who were not anxious to get drunk. Much what happened if they could get a place to sleep and something to eat.

War now is an exact science. An armed machine, a gun, a rifle, a machine gun, and the allied countries in this we have become almost a world machine. Each part must be polished and must fit. Each man must do a clear, steady, reliable job. Each soldier is like the athlete training for a race or the prize fighter for a night. Drinking liquor causes rust in the machine and makes the color he may lose his life and the lives of many others.

Gen. Pearson went on to describe the machine warfare and explained that while individual courage is necessary in a charge over the top from a trench or in a duel in the air, such courage will be useless unless backed up by a storm of shells sent with mathematical accuracy aided by airplanes, telephones, supply trains and innumerable other parts of an organization trained to the highest efficiency.

Gen. Pearson closed with a tribute to the flag.

John V. Donoghue, a past president of the organization, was introduced, and he recited with sympathy and feeling John Boyle O'Reilly's picturesque "Good-bye, Good-bye, My Love, Good-bye," and "The Sunshine of Your Smile." He was accompanied by Mr. McGlinchey and both his numbers were well received.

Other Speakers James O'Sullivan, a veteran of the organization, spoke in a reminiscent mood and expressed the hope that the society would persevere in the good work which it was doing. Probation Officer Edward W. Slattery, another veteran, spoke in a humorous vein and incidentally told the members that they should seek the aid of their lady friends in the work of their organization. The affair closed with a humorous song by Mr. McGlinchey.

8000 FROM AYER GO TO ATLANTA

CAMP DEVENS, Ayer, Oct. 11.—By the end of October some 8000 New England draftees now at this camp, as well as some of those yet to come, will be transferred to Camp Gordon, Atlanta, Ga.

With draftees from other eastern camps they will form a new National army division.

The men to be transferred will be taken from practically all branches of the service represented here, and will go as soon as Camp Gordon is in shape to receive them. It is expected that all will be at their new camp within three weeks. They will probably be completely uniformed and equipped before they are sent.

It was announced yesterday that the 600 colored men from Massachusetts, who will arrive at Camp Devens Oct. 17, will not be sent here, as has been announced at Washington, but will be sent to Camp Upton, at Yaphank, L. I.

Rush Bayonet and Rifle Training

In the meantime the work of the men who have been here for two weeks and more and even those who have only been here since last Friday is being pushed intensively. Yesterday men who came in the "second forty" were to be seen practicing with bayonet and rifle, even before they have learned to drill, and perform field evolutions. A few Bedford and Ayer River men were worked all day at intensive bayonet practice and rifle-shooting. It is hinted that there is a reason for this.

Next week it is expected that some of the men will begin trench work and even yesterday some of them were receiving instructions in going over the top, the top being a small bank running across a field.

Auto Privilege Sold

The privileges of renting automobiles in Depot square to carry passengers to and from the Ayer station to the cantonment have been taken from local automobile men by the Boston & Maine railroad, and has been sold to the Standard Motor Car company for $1700.

The public taxis have been ordered out of the square, and the new company has taken exclusive control. They propose to charge 10 cents for a ride to the station to the cantonment, whether the car carries one or seven passengers, a rate higher than that charged by the local men, who made their own price, whether they carried one or seven.

It is reported that the local automobile men propose to combat this by objecting to a heft to any part of the camp, but these plans are not definite as yet.

An order was issued from division headquarters ordering three eating places in the town of Ayer to soldiers. The places were inspected by Major Siner, division sanitary inspector, who pronounced them unsatisfactory.

118 More Men Rejected

Out of 89 men examined by the doctors of the 201st Infantry yesterday, two more were found who had sight in only one eye, one was only 4 feet 11 inches tall, and several had other physical disqualifications.

The papers, which are supposed to be filled out by the examining surgeon and sent with a man who is drafted, were in many cases not filled out at all. The word "normal" was simply scrawled over the papers, leaving the doctor's minute data showing the man's exact physical condition was missing.

The rejection of 118 more men was announced yesterday. The rejected men were: Massachusetts 6, Rhode Island 30, Vermont 10, Maine 21, Connecticut 44, New York 1 and New Hampshire 6.

LOWELL HISTORICAL SOCIETY Miss Harriett Francis Bennett, great granddaughter of George W. Brownell, read the diary kept by Mr. Brownell when he was in the city of Lowell, which he kept during a meeting of the Lowell Historical society last night. Mr. Brownell was superintendent of the Lowell Machine shop, then operated by the proprietors of the Lowell Lock and Canal and was sent abroad to study machinery and locomotive engines. The journal of the European trip has been given to the Lowell society by Miss Bennett.

The diary kept on shipboard makes note, when only a short way out, of the fact that it is the day of the city election in Lowell and that he is probably no longer an alderman. After reaching Liverpool he records the purchase of some machinery for Mr. Brownell, being presented by the father of James McKell Whistler.

Miss Bennett showed a watch that was brought home from that trip by Mr. Brownell and which he wore.

Mr. Brownell was the father of the late Mrs. James B. Francis.

THE ROLL OF HONOR

At yesterday afternoon's session of the examination board of division 2, city hall, two more names were added to the roll of the National army, the newcomers being as follows:

Thomas F. Reardon, 21 years, 48 Marion street.

Mr. McDonough, 32 years, 42 South Walker street, who successfully passed the physical test yesterday morning and who at that time filed a claim of exemption on the grounds of having dependent children, changed his mind later in the day and in the afternoon he called at city hall and withdrew his claim, saying he was ready to serve when needed.

We all know that a vice grows, like cancer, or rust, when it once takes hold of a growth and grows and grows. Whether it is tobacco, opium, alcohol or selfishness, the vice never stands still. Worst still, a vice like alcohol only destroys the father, but it goes out in the son and grandson. If we look into the history of America we shall find that the American Indian had a disease which was the result of the rum habit. We shall find that the moonshine whiskey districts are apt to be the same as those where the poor white man lives and that there is a steady degeneration from father to son.

In a small town within 40 miles of New York, with less than a thousand people, I counted six barrooms, half a mile of the railroad station, and I found that the worst educated, least progressive, most degenerate people, the outcasts, inhabiting the district most progressive and best educated were the Italians who had come in recently. I believe it is

LOWELL'S OBSERVANCE OF COLUMBUS DAY

Lowell will observe Columbus day in a comparatively quiet manner to-morrow and the bulk of the observance will be of a religious nature by the local council of the Knights of Columbus. The day will open by the parade of the members of the council from the church to St. Michael's church, where a solemn high mass will be celebrated at 8.30 o'clock. A number of the members of the council who are at present in various branches of the national service will take part in the parade.

In the afternoon the local knights will journey to Camp Devens, Ayer, where the formal opening of the observance of Columbus day at the cantonment will take place. The local council has been asked to help in the opening and Commissioner James E. Donnelly has been delegated to take charge of an entertainment by local talent. The Lowell council will have charge of an entertainment in the hut from 6.30 to 8 o'clock and the latter part of the program will be in charge of the Worcester council. All the members of the organization are asked to make the journey to the cantonment to help in the dedication of the building but also to meet the Lowell boys who are encamped there and give them a word of encouragement. The trip to Ayer will be made by automobile.

Tonight at their rooms in Association building the knights will hold a night-before observance of the holiday in the form of a banquet and reception to the soldier members of the council. An elaborate program has

To Combat Movement for Celebration of Peace Between U. S. and England

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Germany financed Irish-American propaganda organization in the United States as early as 1909 to combat the newly developed movement for celebration of one hundred years of peace between America and Great Britain, president Wilson has learned from leaders in the centenary celebration.

John A. Stewart of New York, chairman of the American branch of the centenary committee who recently called at the White House with S. P. Perkins of London, a leader in the British phase of the movement brought evidence that within five weeks after announcement of the centenary plans in 1909, German and Irish-American interests in the United States formed a number of associations and leagues to foster interest in German affairs.

WHY NOT TURN YOUR HOUSE INTO A HOME?
Now that the cool autumn weather is here it suggests many things to the housewife intent upon re-establishing her home for the fall and winter. Perhaps she requires a new dinner set or cut glass ware; a lamp to add to the cheer of her living room; furniture to replace some that has served long and well; upholstery to give a new decorative note to the room; pots and pans and other household articles. Now is the time to buy these things. Make your home as comfortable as possible. This is the time to buy. The family has left for a training camp or joined some branch of military service. Others will probably go before the war is over. Keep your home comfortable and when the boys go away they will always remember their home as the dearest place on earth.

ALLIES HOLD GROUND WON IN GREAT DRIVE

Extremely bad weather on the Flanders front is limiting the activities of the belligerents. Notwithstanding the difficulties created by turning of the battleground into a mud field, however, the allies have maintained themselves in the territory they gained in Tuesday's great French drive. At only one point has their French hold at all and that was in a particularly low sector along the British front, below Poelcapelle, where, as announced yesterday, their advanced posts were drawn in a little.

French Beat Off Attack
While the work of consolidation and preparation for the renewal of the offensive is proceeding, German counter-attacks are being held off by the entente guns. Last night the French had one of these attacks to deal with in the region east of Drabank. The attack was broken up by the French fire. Some attention is being attracted by the persistence of the German efforts to regain ground on the French front in the Verdun region. In this connection it is noted that recently one of the German military critics, in alluding to the situation in Flanders spoke of the peril to which the Germans might be subjected on the Verdun front if the German lines in the Belgian area should give way.

French Near German Territory
The French are very near German territory northeast of Verdun and a forced weakening of the German lines there might well have a serious effect upon the whole military situation, as the French are now for the initiation of a drive from the outlying Verdun positions. The German efforts to push back the French here, or possibly to regain the lost initiative in the region, may possibly be traced to anxiety in this respect on the part of the German high command.

Small success, however, is attending the crown prince's efforts in this direction. He tried again last night near Hill 344, but Gen. Petain's forces held their ground, driving the Germans out of such advanced trenches as they managed temporarily to penetrate.

British War Report
LONDON, Oct. 11.—The official statement issued today by the British war office regarding military operations on the battle front in France and Belgium says:

"There was a heavy rain again last night. The enemy's artillery showed considerable activity during the night hours of Passchendaele. Otherwise there was nothing of special interest to report."

French Beat Off Germans
PARIS, Oct. 11.—The French last night defeated a German attempt to recapture ground taken in the French offensive in Belgium this week, the war office announces. On the Verdun front the Germans broke into advanced French positions but were repulsed after a spirited engagement.

Attack North of Saloniki
LONDON, Oct. 11.—Allied troops made a strong attack Tuesday south of Dolran, north of Saloniki, according to the Bulgarian official statement, issued Wednesday. The attacks began after violent artillery fire for 24 hours were broken up at two points by the Bulgarian artillery. The entente losses are reported to have been heavy while the Bulgarians suffered only slightly. Allied troops who gained the temporary footing in one of the Bulgarian advanced trenches, the statement claims, were either killed or captured.

LOWELL GIRLS ORGANIZE "REGIMENT OF DEATH"

Massachusetts now has a real girl "Battalion of Death," willing to fight the Germans and face poison gas and liquid fire for their country. And the battalion is right here in Lowell.

The last word having to do with the formation of this charming company was spoken at city hall last night when about 75 attractive young women responded to the call of Miss Emma Leclair of 72 Cabot street and gathered in the auditorium chamber for the purpose of perfecting a military organization. In the course of the evening the plans were addressed by Mayor Jas. E. O'Donnell, officers were elected, and the holding of drills were discussed and other important business transacted.

was transacted. The matter of uniform was discussed at length, but no action was taken. In the early evening some fifty young women gathered at the home of Miss Leclair in Cabot street and after forming in two's marched to city hall. The meeting was opened at 7.30 o'clock by Mayor O'Donnell, who extended the visitors a cordial welcome. His Honor said the action of the young women in forming a military company is unusual in Lowell, and in fact in America. He outlined the work of Miss Leclair, and preparing to organize her company and told how she had secured the permission of Brig. Gen. Butler Ames, subject to the consent of the local municipal council. He said the company would not be called upon for active service as the women of Russia were called upon to fight, but the organization would prove very useful by encouraging young men to enlist and by carrying out branches of co-operative work. "You must be taught discipline," continued his Honor, "and how to obey orders. And you must learn how to improve your physical conditions. The people of Lowell, and it may be the people of the continent as well, will follow with interest your progress as probably the first women's military organization of its kind in the history of the country."

The mayor suggested that the company be called "Company A, Lowell Militia Girls," and the suggestion was accepted.

At the close of the mayor's address the election of officers took place, with the following result: Miss Emma Leclair, chairman; Misses Florence Campbell, Anna MacPherson and Mary Griffin, vice chairmen; Miss Marion Dillon, recording secretary; Miss Florence Pare, financial secretary; Miss Nellie Thomas, treasurer; Misses Christine Lyman, Agnes Burrows, Catherine May, Eva Bonin and Cora Davis, board of directors. The military officers will be chosen later.

It was voted to give the organization the name of Company A, Lowell Militia Girls, and that an assessment of 10 cents a week be taken, while a member who will miss a drill without just cause will be fined 10 cents. It was also decided not to allow married women to join the organization, while it will be included in the by-laws that any member of the organization who becomes a bride will automatically retire from the ranks of the company. A uniform was discussed at length, but action was deferred to a later date. The rolls of the company will be limited to 125, and of this number 107 have already enlisted. The next meeting will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in front of the state armory in Westford street, where photographs of the company will be taken.

Those who attended the meeting last evening, besides the officers elected, were as follows: Misses Margaret Mullin, Mary Nyland, Anna Bratton, Helen Gilliam, Dell Shannon, Yvonne Leclair, Bessie Haslam, Mary Laporte, Marion Wright, Yvonne Morier, Anna Conroy, Winnie Chobsey, Zita Canning, Eliza Lord, Alexina Nore, Helen M. Canning, Harriet Deiderfeld, Yvonne Jackson, Alice Newton, Ruth Hill, Anna Hanson, Anna MacPherson, Agnes Kelley, Helen Foye, Lillian Searlet, Lillian LaBelle, Olga Drin, Esther Tobin, Elizabeth LaBelle, Alice Drin, Florence Lamphier, Blanche Chagnon, Mary Rose Tully, Agnes Elker, Bertha Vezina, Annie Williams, Maybelle Stunder, Bella Rita, B. EVERETT E. TARBOK SUES CITY TO RECOVER MONEY DUE HIM FOR AUDIT

Everett E. Tarbok, the expert accountant who has audited the city's books and who later filed a bill amounting to about $3300, with the municipal council, has brought suit against the city after refusal on the part of the city fathers to pay the bill. The case will be heard by the justice of the peace court on Oct. 24. Joseph J. Herresy will appear for Mr. Tarbok, while the city will be represented by City Solicitor William D. Regan. On the same date, Oct. 24, another case against the city is scheduled to go on trial before the justice of the peace court, that of Catherine Gorman, who claims that in 1915 she slipped and fell on the city's sidewalk in front of her home and fractured her knee in four places. The damages in this case is $1000.

LOWELL BOY SCOUTS

Troop 28 of the Lowell Boy Scouts is progressing rapidly in its scout activities. The troop is under the direction of Rev. Joseph Denis, O.M.I., and its members are mostly young men of the Notre Dame school. The boys have completed all arrangements for the part which they are to play in the annual field day of the Boy Scouts at Spalding park Saturday afternoon.

Next Sunday the members of the troop will attend a solemn high mass at Notre Dame de Lourdes' church at 10.30 o'clock.

ANOMIA BIBLE CLASS

The annual meeting of the Anomia bible class of the First Baptist church was held last night at the home of Misses Lillian and Marion Kydd, 58 Dover street. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Florence Gullino; vice president, Stella Stead; secretary, Elizabeth Hamilton and treasurer, Rebecca Thompson. The meeting terminated with a prayer for Misses Lillian and Marion Kydd.

GERMAN PAPER BARRED FROM THE MAILS

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—On instructions from Washington local postoffice officials yesterday ordered the publishers of the New Yorker Volks Zeitung, a socialist organ of the German-speaking specialists in the east that the privilege of the second class mail had been withdrawn. The newspaper recently was named by the Liberty loan committee as having refused to accept a Liberty loan advertisement put out by New York banks.

NEW CRISIS IN GERMANY

conditions of German political life, it is contended will undoubtedly from now on work against von Bethmann-Hollweg's successes in peace negotiations. The immediate results of the disclosures of Chancellor Michaelis and Vice Admiral von Capelle have been that the government socialists have been driven into complete opposition and into alignment with the radical socialists; that the followers of Philipp Scheidemann have delivered a formal declaration of war against the government until Chancellor Michaelis has been removed from office, and that the radicals, the members of the center and even the national liberals have criticized and condemned the Michaelis-Capelle move as one which ought not to have been made unless the government had full, adequate proof of the complicity of the three radical socialists in an actual conspiracy to mutiny—proof which they evidently believe the government will be unable to produce.

Stripped of its embellishments, the government's statement reduced itself to the charge that agitation to enroll members for the radical socialist party had been carried on in the navy; that leaflets had been distributed and that two of the executed sailors had visited Dr. Hans Vortberr and Wittman. The three socialists made a great play of the fact that the government had made no attempt to bring them to trial before or after the court martial at Wilhelmshaven on Aug. 30, and they argued that the crown prosecutor would not have missed such an opportunity if he had any evidence upon which to convict them. This argument would appeal to all but the conservatives, and it has deepened the attitude of a large share of the press, which, despite dislike for the radical socialists, takes the stand that Chancellor Michaelis misused the affair for political capital.

Theatre of Scandal

ROTTERDAM, Oct. 11.—The statements of Vice Admiral von Capelle, the German minister of marine, have turned the reichstag into a theatre of the wildest scandal, says the Vorwarts, discussing the exposures of mutinies within the German navy. The socialist newspaper adds that there is no shadow of proof that any deputies were guilty of illegal action in connection with the mutiny.

A Vossische Zeitung describes the attack on the government as a deplorable and illegal trick on the part of the government. The Tagesspiegel, a conservative paper, believes that the independent socialists are guilty they must be handed over to the court. The Deutsche Zeitung expresses surprise that the government "when it had such strong proofs of guilt against three persons suspected of treason did not take the content of the reichstag to take legal measures. No reichstag would have been able to renege on the government's promises. The fact that the treatment will be explained abroad to the disadvantage of Germany."

Iron Severity for Plotters

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 11.—Those guilty of complicity in the plot to paralyze the German navy through mutinies will be handed over to the court, says the Rheinische Westfalische Zeitung of Essen. It adds: "They are liable to the death penalty. The Reichstag will be explained abroad to the disadvantage of Germany."

Kaiser Meets Reval

LONDON, Oct. 11.—News of a meeting between the German emperor and the Russian czar at Wilhelmshaven, which was supposed with an iron hand and the execution of ring leaders by the emperor's order, carried into a new and bitter phase of the conflict between the reichstag and the government. Details of the mutiny reaching Holland show that the crews of the battleships rose in revolt, one of them, the Westfalen, whose captain was thrown overboard and drowned.

Mail says that according to the report there the mutinous battleships at Wilhelmshaven included the Luitpold and the Kaiser. The crews landed and marines were ordered to fire on them, but refused. Sailors were thereupon ordered out and surrounded the sailors, who surrendered.

Emperor William went to Wilhelmshaven and ordered that one out of every seven mutineers be shot. Chancellor Michaelis protested with the result that only three were shot. Heavy sentences were imposed on the others.

Mutiny is reported to have occurred on the German warship Xanthippe, at sea. The men seized the officers and proceeded in the direction of Norway, with the intention of being intercepted by the British navy and taken by destroyers and forced to surrender.

A well known beauty specialist advises this treatment for the removal of hair from the face. CLARK FAMILY IS DOING ITS BIT FOR U. S.

Mr. George Clark of this city, employed as a pipe in the Root mills, lays claim to a family war record that few, if any, men in Lowell can claim.

The Clark family has been identified with the U. S. navy for nearly a century. Mr. Clark's grandfather, John H. Clark, was in the navy during the Seminole war, way back in the early 30's. His father, also named John H., enlisted in the navy in 1840 and was on the "Ohio" when the Mexican war, returning from that war as captain of the fore-top, a position that required an expert seaman. His father was discharged from the service in 1853, but immediately entered the government service at the Charlestown navy yard, where he was employed continuously for years, being assistant of Naval Constructor and later during the Civil war and for many years served as deck-master at the navy yard.

George Clark, himself, enlisted in the navy in the early 50's and was an engineer's yeoman on board the sloop war "Vandalia," when he went down at Samoa with the "Ossipoff," "Trenton" and others in the memorable "blow" in 1886 that caught the ships with their steam down. Today Mr. Clark has three sons in the service of Uncle Sam, and like their ancestors, all in the navy. Edward Clark, the oldest son when last heard from three years ago, was on a ship in the North sea, John, who has recently re-enlisted, is at Charlestown in the orders, while Arthur, the youngest, is at the Naval Training school at Newport. John Clark was aboard the "Veracruz" in 1914 and the power station at Vera Cruz was turned over to him and his men when the American blue-jackets went ashore. His father claims that John is the only man in the entire United States who saw service at Vera Cruz in 1914, who had a grandfather who was present in the service when Vera Cruz was won in the 40's. "I only regret," says George, "that I haven't a few more to enlist, for they all enlisted without waiting to be drafted."

GERMANY READY TO GIVE UP BELGIUM

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 11.—During debate in the reichstag yesterday Deputy Conrad Haussman said the declaration of Dr. von Kuehlmann, the foreign secretary that apart from Alsace-Lorraine there is no absolute bar to peace—was tantamount to a definite undertaking that Belgium should be given up.

"That should be heralded forth to all the nations," the deputy added. Gustav Stresemann, a national liberal, said he would not undertake to disarmament, but he thought disarmament hardly was practical politics.

Count von Westarp, conservative, thought that Germany's answer to the pope ought to have made clear that Germany was not undertaking to disarmament, but he thought disarmament hardly was practical politics.

PLOT TO EXPORT TUNGSTEN

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—A plot to export tungsten, a metal used to harden steel, from this country on board the Scandinavian-American liner United States in violation of the espionage act and President Wilson's proclamation, was broken up today by federal agents with the arrest of three men here. The illicit export of the metal, presumably for Germany, has been going on for some time, the United States attorney announced.

One of the men arrested was Fritz Oerndal, a steward on the United States. Federal agents say they found on him a brass check for a suitcase which when located and opened, contained 40 pounds of tungsten and that a search of the liner brought to light 160 pounds more concealed under a stateroom floor.

The other two men arrested were Waldemar A. Adams and Robert Collins, both Swedes, partners here in a Swedish book store to which Oerndal made many trips while under the surveillance of government agents. When arraigned before a United States commissioner they were held in $2500 bail, while Oerndal was held in $3500.

Harold A. Content, assistant United States district attorney, who presented the case, declared that the breaking up of the plot "is equivalent to the sinking of ten German submarines."

WELL KNOWN RESIDENTS SPEAK

Many are the letters received by Dr. Pierce, at Buffalo, N. Y., from his patients in New England. Here are a few from Massachusetts:

Mrs. Amanda E. Burt, of 15 Chandler told me there was no cure for. I only found it necessary to take one bottle and am now in the very best of health and weigh 260 lbs.

"The Pleasant Pellets" have cured many a bilious headache for me and I can truly say Dr. Pierce's remedies are all that he represents them to be."

Mr. C. H. Bates, residing at 3 Highland st., Framingham, Mass., says: "For several years I worked in a lumber camp and had very severe colds and coughs. I always found quick relief in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I have also used this medicine as a tonic every spring for many years with wonderful results."

Mrs. Minnie J. Collins, who lives at 7 Hawley st., Worcester, Mass., says: "Some time ago I was in a terrible nervous state and all rundown. My doctor said I was verging on nervous prostration but he did not seem to help me, so I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and felt better immediately. Three bottles and it certainly did wonders for me. I take pleasure in recommending the 'Discovery' as being all that it is represented to be."

This herbal tonic is made up in liquid or tablet form and can be obtained in any drug store in Massachusetts, particularly to women and the 'Golden Medical Discovery' helped me to get over a very bad cough which the doctors thought was consumption and derived from nature's roots and herbs."

I have taken the 'Favorite Prescription' for weakness peculiar to women and the 'Golden Medical Discovery' helped me to get over a very bad cough which the doctors thought was consumption and derived from nature's roots and herbs."

THE DAY'S NEWS AT CITY HALL

The two plots of land owned by the Locke and Canals Co. and located in Pawtucket street between the Moody street bridge and Melvin street will be laid out and embanked by the park department. Today the members of the board leased the land for a period of thirty years at a cost of $5 a year and the abatement of taxes.

The superintendent of the park department stated this morning that the purpose of the board in leasing the land was to prevent the erection of unsightly buildings in that district and also to provide breathing space for the residents of the neighborhood. It is not expected that any work on the land will be done this year. One of the lots extends from the corner of Pawtucket and Moody streets to the canal, while the other, which is much larger, extends from the canal to the banks of the river and Melvin street.

Shedd Park Improvements

Work of developing Shedd park has been started by the park department and already four acres of rough land are being treated with sickle time. Later grass seed will be sowed.

Plant Juice Has Surely Cured Him

Dracut (Mass.) Citizen Give a Strong Testimonial for the New Remedy

Ask any one of a dozen of your acquaintances who have reached or passed the middle age of forty how they feel. At least one will say: "I am not at all well lately. I guess I am wearing out—stomach seems to have gone back on me—I am getting along you know, hearing force, but I am not at all well lately. You know who old at forty, even at thirty-five when they should be just in the hey-day of their prime. Most of them are old because their stomachs have aged before their bodies; they are worn-out because their stomachs are worn-out. Plant Juice, the new health stomach remedy, has kept thousands of stomachs from wearing out before their time—has made them like new, and their owners now feel like new men and women.

One of the latest to give a voluntary testimonial for Plant Juice, telling how he has been restored to health, is Mr. A. L. Blizard, who resides at No. 1350 Lakeview avenue, Dracut, Mass., and is in the employ of one of the largest firms in New England as a man of the utmost honor and integrity. "I had been troubled for over a year with a lame back, and for three years my stomach bothered me a good deal; I could not sleep at night on account of the pain I had from gas; I was nervous that the least thing would make me feel all tired out with no ambition or energy to do my work. I could never wear a belt or anything tight around me on account of the pain I suffered from my back. I had tried a great many different medicines, but never any that would relieve this condition until I began to take your Plant Juice. Now I am completely cured, and my back does not trouble me any more; I sleep well at night, and feel rested and refreshed in the morning, and ready for a good day's work; my nerves are stronger, and I feel stronger and better in every way. I highly endorse Plant Juice. 'The Plant Juice Man' is at Dow's, the Druggists, in Merrimack Square, Lowell, where he is daily meeting the local public, and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

Chauveurs Examined

The state examiners of the highway commission, who generally come to Lowell on Friday, came today on account of tomorrow being a legal holiday, and they examined some 30 prospective chauffeurs. This bus is the largest of its kind ever seen in this city, its seating capacity being forty.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN THE POLICE COURT

This morning's session of the police court was a comparatively short one, there being but few offenders to appear before Judge Enright. Matthew Payton and Daniel Ready were charged with the larceny of a watch valued at $10 from Michael Duggan. According to the testimony offered by the latter, he was in an employment office in Middlesex street and placed his watch on a table. When he went to look for it he found it had disappeared and Payton and Ready were also missing. Duggan reported the matter to Patrolman Kilroy and Payton and Ready, who were found at the depot were searched, but the watch was not found. The two men were then taken to a nearby pawnshop where the clerk identified Ready as the man who pawned a watch which was identified by Duggan. Payton denied any knowledge of the larceny.

In court this morning Ready said that a man gave him the watch to pawn and he received 50 cents which he turned over to the unknown man. The court, however, did not believe Ready's story and finding him guilty, imposed a fine of $20. Payton was found not guilty and discharged.

Motor Bus Law Violations

Lewis Page was charged with two violations of the motor bus law, entered a plea of not guilty, but was found guilty and fined $10 on the first complaint and $15 on the second. He appealed.

Drunk Offenders

Mary Armstrong, who appeared from a sentence to the state farm, withdrew her appeal and at her request was given a sentence of three months in jail instead.

The case of Frank Teel, charged with drunkenness, was continued until Saturday night. George F. Moran, who was drafted from New Haven and reported at Ayer on October 10, and left the camp the following day, reappeared in court this morning and Judge Enright told the man to take the first electric car for Ayer for if he did not report by night he would be posted as deserter.

Y.M.C.A. FALL RALLY

The first rally for members of the Y.M.C.A. was held last evening in the well appointed hall of the Y.M.C.A. and the affair was largely attended. The whole building was opened for the young women and all who attended a special musical and social evening. A lively program of games was carried on in the gymnasium under the direction of Miss Annie P. Hodgkins, the new extension secretary, while later in the evening a program of songs was given in Kilson hall, where two sketches were also successfully presented. "Lord Ullin's Daughter," and "Mary Picken's Week at Sea." The evening was brought to a close by the serving of ice cream and cake.

HELD IN PLOT TO BLOW UP SHIPS

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The three men arrested here last night charged with conspiring to blow up ships in New York harbor in 1916 were turned over to the federal authorities today by the police who made the arrests. The men are Eugene Reister, a restaurant proprietor; Joseph Zeffer, a printer, and Walter Uhde, a lithographer. The police are continuing the investigation and say they expect further disclosures of the working of German intrigue here.

Additional evidence that Dr. Karl Schimmel, an alleged co-plotter with the men who escaped by way of Buenos Aires to Rotterdam, knew that bombs had been placed on the Lusitania was given to the police today. Martin Lisen, a German subject, who has been in this country 20 years, engaged in newspaper work, told the police that a day or two after the Lusitania was sunk Schimmel told him he knew nine bombs had been placed on the vessel.

KAISER GOING TO SOFIA, BULGARIA

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 11.—Extensive preparations are being made in Sofia, Bulgaria, to entertain the German emperor during his forthcoming visit there. It is expected that the Kaiser will visit Sofia and the burmester has issued a proclamation inviting the population to participate in the reception.

A despatch from Amsterdam Wednesday said that German Foreign Secretary von Kuehlmann would proceed on an early date on a visit to Vienna, Sofia and Constantinople. It was said that his mission has important political and peace significance. "There have been no regrets within the last few days that the German emperor was to go to Sofia, he having returned from Rumania only ten days ago."

MILITARY SCHOOLS AT TRAINING CAMPS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Courses for the great military schools at divisional training camps have been marked out as carefully as those of high schools or colleges. The whole scheme of the 16-week course, to its minutest detail, is based on what is being done and his officers already have learned on the other side. It will be varied as new lessons are learned at the fighting front. The plan is calculated to produce infantry divisions uniformly organized, equipped and trained.

It will cut down materially the training time abroad. For the first five weeks the men will learn all about the mechanics of the rifle, theories of windage, elevation and the like. With the sixth week they will begin spending 16 hours a week at target practice. While one platoon or company is firing, the others will be at work estimating distances to train their eyes, studying the use of fire control instruments, range finders and observers' glasses. The sample schedules show a full day of work from 7:30 a. m. to 4:40 p. m. except on Wednesday and Saturday, when the men will be allowed to do as they please after 1 p. m. Saturday morning is inspection day when all the work covered by the day and night or individuals or units be measured by higher officers for efficiency. If below standard they will lose their afternoon leisure until they catch up.

Selection of men for special duties will not be made until the eleventh week. Up to that time courses will all be the same. Then the platoons will be picked over and the snipers, rifle grenadiers, snipers, sketchers, signallers, runners, observers, estimators and light machine gun men will be selected. Each man will go to the work which the general drill has shown him best fitted to perform. Officers and non-commissioned officers will have their own daily schools in addition. These must be fitted into the day or night and the men will have little time to devote to themselves throughout the entire course.

N. E. LIBERTY LOAN BONDS TOTAL $48,629.00

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—Total subscriptions in New England for the second Liberty loan as reported through the Federal Reserve bank of Boston today were $48,629.00 representing an over-night addition of $6,749,000. This figure is based on reports from 734 of the 1073 banks in the district. For the third time in succession the daily total was well above the $50,000 mark. Massachusetts showed the largest gain, a big boost having been given the campaign in this state by the activity of business men of Worcester, who raised $2,400,000 in a whirlwind campaign yesterday.

Subscriptions by states, as tabulated at 9 a. m. today were:

Maine $2,236,000.
New Hampshire $1,381,000.
Vermont $1,487,000.
Rhode Island $7,131,000.
Connecticut $6,787,000.
Massachusetts $28,937,000.

Barre, Mass., is the first town in New England to report subscriptions in excess of its minimum allotment. With a minimum of $10,000 the general committee announced that Barre already had raised $118,000 and was pulling for its maximum of $184,000. Tufts college notified the committee that it would close for one day and turn loose the entire student body as volunteer Liberty loan workers. The offer met with such favor at headquarters that the committee probably will ask all of the colleges in New England to follow suit in order to put forward a powerful college drive.

New York Subscriptions
NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The marked increase in the number of small subscriptions, ranging from $50 to $500, announced yesterday indicated that the great campaign organized by the Liberty loan committee was beginning to reach the mass of the people of the second federal reserve bank district.

The total subscriptions to date amount to $264,499,250, and show that the loan is behind its schedule by $28,000,000.

The government has expressed regret that it is unable to meet the wishes of the American authorities.

CHEAPER GAS OR GET OUT, SAYS MAYOR

EVERETT, Oct. 11.—The state gas and electric light commission held a hearing in city hall yesterday on the petition of a group of citizens and also of Mayor Mullen, relative to the recent increase from 90 cents to 95 cents in the price of gas by the Malden & Melrose Gas Light company.

Senator James F. Cavanaugh, for the petitioners, made an analysis showing the company had earned $8 per cent dividend on its stock, and maintained that the increase of price should bear rather on the stockholders than on the consumer.

In the afternoon Mayor Mullen spoke. He said that unless the Malden & Melrose Gas Light company decreased the price of gas they would have to get out of Everett and that a municipal gas plant would be established. "No one but God Almighty can prevent Mullen's re-election," he asserted in conclusion.

Not a Corn or Callus on Feet

Apply free drops, then lift them off without pain.

A noted Cincinnati authority discovered a new ether compound and it now can be had in little bottles for a few cents from any drug store.

You simply apply a few drops of freezone upon a tender corn or painful callus and instantly the soreness disappears, then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it off with fingers.

No pain, not a bit of soreness, either when applying freezone or afterwards, and it doesn't even irritate the skin.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also toughened calluses, just shrivel up and lift off so easy. It is wonderful. It works like a charm. Try it.

Women should keep freezone on their dressers and never let a corn ache twice.

MANY MEMBERS OF FRENCH-AMERICAN VOLUNTEER BRIGADE IN THE U. S. ARMY

Owing to the fact that about ten per cent of the members of the French-American Volunteer brigade of the United States are serving under Uncle Sam's colors the board of directors of the organization recently decided not to hold demonstrations of any kind until the close of the war.

According to the by-laws of the brigade the bi-annual encampment of the organization would be held next year, but that too will be postponed until the end of the war. The secretary-general of the brigade is now compiling a list of the members of the brigade, who have enlisted in the army or who have been drafted and these names will be placed on the records of the organization.

BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD DIRECTORS RE-ELECTED YESTERDAY

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—But one discordant note was sounded yesterday at the meeting of the stockholders of the Boston & Maine railroad, and that was struck when Hagop Boghian of Boston and Lancaster, cross-questioned President James H. Hustis regarding free passes and the salaries of lawyers and lobbyists retained by the corporation.

Conrad W. Crooker, representing prominent minority stockholders, tendered the olive branch and was rewarded when, for the first time in his experience, the stockholders agreed with him and passed his resolution setting forth reasons why the Boston & Maine should be given the right by the Interstate Commerce commission to raise its rates to 15 per cent instead of 4 per cent, as recently authorized by that body.

The meeting witnessed a silent attempt by the Minority Stockholders' Protective association to elect a set of directors. Mr. Crooker, who represented this interest, filed a protest against allowing the New Haven holding to vote.

The meeting re-elected the former 14 directors by a stock vote of 302,341 for each director. The minority ticket received 834 and fewer votes for the different candidates.

The materials were a cupful of chopped peanuts, a cupful of hot steam-rolled rice, a cupful of bread crumbs, a cupful of any kind of soup stock, a teaspoonful of salt, an egg, and a dash of paprika. This was combined in a pan of water for an hour, then served with tomato sauce and a garnishing of parsley. Meat may be used instead of the nuts, the cooking time being cut in half.

COAL OPERATIONS CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—A general conference of the country's coal operators at Pittsburgh, Oct. 23, was called yesterday by D. A. Morrow, secretary of the National Coal association, for the purpose, it was announced, of helping the fuel administration avert a shortage of coal this winter.

Whether there will be a coal shortage this winter depends, Dr. Morrow said, on the coal industry's response to the demand.

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 11.—Clement Martini of Union street, West Springfield, and his daughter, Mrs. Della Rose Gallarant, are dead, and Mrs. Carmela Martini, the wife of Clement Martini, is in a critical condition in a hospital here as the result of a shooting in the Martini home early today. The West Springfield police immediately sent a request to police departments throughout the state for the arrest of Fred Gallarant. Gallarant's wife, Amelia, who is a distant relative of Clement Martini, also is missing. She had not lived with her husband for several years but had made her home with the Martinis.

The police say that about three months ago Gallarant went to the Martini home and forcibly took his wife away in an automobile, keeping her several days. She escaped and returned to the Martinis. An automobile was heard to be in the vicinity at the time of the shooting. The West Springfield police have had a warrant for Gallarant since April for assault and robbery. He is 26 years old.

NEW WORLD MARK BY LU PRINCETON

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 11.—Walter Cox of Dover, N. H., yesterday drove Lu Princeton to a new world record for the fastest fifth heat, trotting, in the Ashland stake for 2.13 trotters. Lu Princeton took the second, fourth and fifth heats. He made the second heat in 2.05, the fourth in 2.04, and the fifth in 2.05.

Lu Princeton is a bay horse, by San Francisco out of Lucinda. He is four years old and owned by Barton Pardee of Lockhaven, Pa. There were only two starters in the Ashland, the feature of yesterday's card, Royal Mac being the second, Murphy up. They got off in the first together, racing like a team until within 20 yards of the wire, when Lu Princeton broke, losing the heat.

In the second, Cox simply outdrove Tommy Murphy, leading all the way, and there is where Lu Princeton first showed his own record, which was 2.05. The third heat was a repetition of the first, Lu Princeton breaking about the same time as in the first.

The fourth and fifth heats were taken easily by Lu Princeton, Royal Mac being three lengths back. Cox drove Barbara Lee in the 2-year-old trot, the last race of the day, but the Manrico filly was on her bad behavior and Cox finished out of the money.

The Race Lady yesterday set a new world record for 3-year-old trotters, trotting against time, at 2.03 flat. This beats the previous world record of 2.03, held jointly by Peter Voie and Miss Bertha Dillon.

She belongs to A. H. Cosden of New York, and was driven by Thomas W. Murphy. The Race Lady also holds the world record for 2-year-olds of 2.04, made at Lexington last year. The summary:

CONTOOCOOK HONEST UNDERWEAR

was, in part, as follows:

Since our last annual meeting, our nation has declared war and new problems, new anxieties have come. In the city's history there has probably never been a time when it was more important to maintain a high standard of efficiency among its families, rich and poor, when the strength and character of its people were more valuable. Was there ever a time then when it was more important to give good service to those of our community that are in need—whether the need is of financial assistance, of medical care, of opportunities for the handicapped, courage for the disheartened, advice for the fatherless, or protection for those who are wayward or deprived of their normal protectors.

The Lowell Social Service League in the three departments of its work is eager to be of assistance, handicapped though it has been by lack of money which spells lack of time. In its confidential exchange, it offers to charitable agencies and individuals an opportunity to save effort and money, for both of which there is so much use; it offers different ones interested in the same family a chance to co-operate in whatever is decided upon as the best plan, instead of bewildering the family and themselves by not knowing of each other's interest, suggesting different plans, and perhaps thereby causing positive harm. In connection with its family work, any one may refer people to the league, whatever the nature of the trouble, whatever the race or creed, asking to have the assistance needed, whether material, moral or whatever, procured from the appropriate source—being willing, of course, to have any upon whom a burden rightfully falls, asked to do their part. It stands as the general practitioner, not wishing in any way to interfere with good work done by the specialist, whether the latter be a social worker, a nurse, a physician, or a minister. Some one is needed to learn with kindness and skill just what the real trouble is and then to see that the remedy is procured from the proper source. Some that do not come under any specialist, the general practitioner naturally keeps under his own care. Thirdly, the league aims to be of assistance in efforts to promote the general welfare by co-operating with others or by introducing helpful movements.

In the confidential exchange from Sept. 1, 1916, to Sept. 1, 1917, inquiries were registered. At the end of the fiscal year, there were 3965 family cards with names of from one to 12 or more agencies or individuals interested in each one. This does not mean that so many families have received material assistance; in some instances, a children's agency has been interested and probably wished to know who else was working for the same family, or even inquired about a foster-home before placing a child; other inquiries have come from medical agencies, relief-giving societies, church organizations and other groups. Some of the 3965 have now doubtless moved from Lowell, but with the increased co-operation among cities, it is likely to get the benefit of the others' information.

You, as members of the league, are urged to encourage other agencies and individuals to inquire at the confidential exchange, to learn who else is interested in their families, so that by co-operation, more good may be accomplished and less harm caused.

In the "family work," since the league's activities began in 1915, we have been asked to assist in solving problems of 683 families—of these 215 were new from Sept. 1, 1916, to Sept. 1, 1917. The 683 include some not strictly under our care, in which we were asked to assist in investigations. Interest has been continued in a number of the families known before Sept. 1, 1916, and in some, marked improvements have been reported. Under "Is It Worth While" last year we told the stories of two families that were in pathetically hard straits when first known to the league. In one instance because of physical handicap, in one probably because of lack of character. Both, after much effort on the part of volunteers of the league, were finally self-supporting. It is encouraging to know that the improved conditions remained, and that both families have continued to be in comfortable circumstances, self-supporting and now probably in position to help others. These were two of many problems, included in the families of this fiscal year are some where either father or mother is dead, or has deserted, or is physically in poor health, or is insane; some where a child is crippled, epileptic or otherwise in need of special care; people of advanced age who find it difficult to earn a living; families where the need is a temporary one due, for instance, to sickness, or to character defect that can be overcome; and of those too important to be neglected.

In 1916, when soldiers from Lowell were sent to the Mexican border, the Lowell soldiers' relief fund turned to the league for advice to the homes of dependents; again in the summer of 1917, the Red Cross did the same. Since Aug. 6, the Red Cross, the Lowell committee for public safety and the state aid department have all referred problems of soldiers' dependents to us. In October, 1916, the Massachusetts state conference of charities met at

URGE SUBSTITUTE FOR
WOOL IN CLOTHES

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—A resolution urging American manufacturers to conserve wool by using substitutes in fabrics in civilian clothes so that there may be sufficient wool for the army and navy requirements was adopted yesterday by 300 men meeting here as representatives of the nation's wool industries. This action was taken on recommendation by the committee on supplies of the council of national defense and the commercial economy board.

A report of the joint wool conservation committee declared that the increasing price of wool had forced woolen mills to resort to making cotton warp fabrics instead of all-wool fabrics, and that in order to keep mills in operation for the production of war material, the need for raw wool was imperative.

The committee pointed out that this situation would be relieved if the government could arrange with Great Britain for the release of from 200,000 to 300,000,000 pounds of Australian and New Zealand wools for shipment to this country and also provide shipping for this supply as well as the South American "clip" due in the market Oct. 1.

Mr. C. C. Hoyle, former minister of railways of New South Wales, was observed when he urged that American manufacturers and business men see to it that the United States takes the place formerly occupied by Germany in the trading with Australia. He declared Australians will not desire commercial relations with Germany after the war, and the field would be open there for this country.

The urgent need of France for war material from the United States was set forth by Andre Tardieu, French high commissioner to the United States, in an address at the association's banquet tonight.

"France needs war material," he said. "Her army today is still holding almost three-quarters of the French front, and during the following months she will act as the rampart of the American army in training near the front, while our plants manufacture a large part of the guns to be used by your troops during the next few months."

service to the city in event of a serious disaster. There were eight meetings with an average attendance of 21.

Of particular importance in the league's activities has been the work of volunteers. Some have assisted in clerical work, some in stenographic work, some in co-operating with other agencies, some in visits to families. Besides giving their services at the time, the volunteers gain experience and in some instances training that make them more valuable to the community. There seems to be at present serious need of trained volunteer service not only in the league but elsewhere for some of the many tasks that are too important to entrust to the inexperienced and untrained even though well-intentioned.

For the league, I want to express appreciation to those that have given services, money or other gifts, including Miss Ella M. Walls, who so generously allowed us to profit from her play; and to the agencies, private and public, that have co-operated with us. In our common aim to be of service to the city, I wish also to thank those officers and directors that have given devoted interest and effort, standing by the organization in its pioneer days, knowing the work ultimately, ready, if need be, to bear objections and then to learn the true situation; and working with earnestness to help the league in its aim to be of service to the people of Lowell.

SAYS CONGRESS MUST PASS NEW DRAFT LAW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Representative Kahn of California, the republican who led the administration forces in the house when the army draft law was passed, said yesterday a new draft act would have to be passed at the next session of congress to reach the many young men who have become 21 years of age since May 18 last, and that it probably would amend the existing law so as to register youths from 16 or 17 to become automatically subject to call on reaching the age of 21.

Mr. Kahn also said he intended to make a fight for a universal training law and an act to deal with alien slackers without violating treaty obligations.

"Sixty per cent. of the American boys are being rejected for physical disability, a per centage that is appalling," said Mr. Kahn. "That means that six out of every 10 young men between the ages of 21 and 31 are so deficient physically that they cannot be taken into the United States army, a fact that must be a revelation to thinking people of the country, though the proportion of the deficient is not quite so great as was the case in England. Universal training would give the young men thorough knowledge of hygiene and sanitation and would develop a race of men strong physically and mentally."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
Heading a bill of superior merit at the B. F. Keith theatre this week, is the noted lyric tenor, Will Oakland, in a decidedly pretty sketch called "Danny O'Gill, U.S.A." Oakland appears to particular advantage in this little play. Of course, beyond all else, he is the natural singer, who delights in giving the old songs, although not adverse to pealing forth the better of the popular numbers. As the young Irishman who returns to his native land from America, Oakland has a dash and jauntiness to him which is bound to make an appeal.

And, thus, there is "New York, 1917," a comedy by New York, which isn't like anything we have had here this year. It shows Manhattan today—and thirty years hence. It shows the men of today, and what they may be expected to look like in 1947. And there is decidedly breezy comedy playing all through it.

Maleta Bonconi is, without doubt, the most finished violin virtuoso who has appeared at this theatre in many months. An artist to her finger tips, she draws out most charming melodies—classics, every one of them. Everywhere she has been lauded for her exceptional work.

For centric dancing that is away from the ordinary routine of such acts, let us commend you to the work of Charles and Adelaide Wilkins. I love the woman teacher—or tries to teach—the man the tango—because a lot of hearty laughter. Clara and Emily Barry, the two lively daughters of the only Jimmie Barry, present the best mixture of song, dancing and fun they have ever had. It is done to a shanty. The opening act of the bill is by Zeda and Hoot, who have a contentionship fantasy. The week's big picture feature is "Fighting Odds," with beautiful Maxine Elliott, in the principal role. The Hearst-Pathe pictures are also commendatory.

OPERA HOUSE

A theatre party, composed of members of Lowell lodge of Elks, will attend the performance of "The Lost Paradise," by the Emerson Players at the Opera House tonight, as a testimony to Roy Walling and Jerome Kennedy, brother members of the organization. The play is scoring one of the biggest hits of the season and richly deserves the many favorable reports being sent it from all sides. The strike scene especially, in which Kenneth Fleming as the spokesman for the laboring class presents the claims of the workers, is filled with thrilling scenes and action. Roy Walling is another member of the cast who finds himself well cast in the role of "Reuben Warner," the superintendent of the factory who sticks by his men even at the threatened loss of his position and the love and respect of the girl he hopes to win. Miss Wellington is also found in a congenial role, while the remainder of the supporting cast is well assigned. The staging of the piece is wonderfully well done and must be seen to be best appreciated.

THE STRAND

Beginning today and continuing through Saturday the program at The Strand will include that wonderful photo-drama, "To the Death," introducing Mme. Petrova, the great Russian actress in the title role. A finely balanced cast has been selected to produce this Metro water-play in which Mme. Petrova interprets the stellar part of "Blanca Sylva," the beautiful Corsican lace-maker. MOTORMAN IN BRIDGE TRAGEDY TESTIFIES

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—Gerald Walsh, 26, motorman on the ill-fated electric car that plunged through the draw of the Summer street extension bridge into Fort Point channel, testified in the superior criminal court yesterday at his trial before Judge Dana and a jury, on an indictment accusing him of manslaughter through alleged recklessness and negligent handling of the cars.

He came from Ireland two or three years ago. On June 8, 1916, he went to work as an extra motorman and was over the route of the Summer street bridge before the day of the accident. He knew there was a draw there.

He picked the 513 trip on Nov. 7 and took the car from the barn at South Boston. He said he slowed down at Melcher street to allow a passenger to get on and then he started up again and the car was going at about eight or 10 miles an hour when within 25 or 30 feet from the gates of the draw he noticed the gates were closed.

He became excited and it was a second or two before he got control of himself. Then he tried to stop the car. The rail was damp and the brake worked hard. It was also difficult to use the brake because of the crowd on the platform.

The car went through the gates and came almost to a stop, but he saw the car would not stop before it reached the open draw. He yelled out to the passengers and all on the front platform got off. He was the last to jump off the platform.

He had then applied his reverse and the brakes and could do nothing further. When he jumped off he fell, and when he started to get up the car was toppling over the edge of the bridge into the channel. He said he could not get at the sand rail because the car was on the platform.

He said it was dark at the bridge; the are light was not lighted and there was no red lantern on the gate. The headlight of his car threw a light about 10 feet.

MANSFIELD BLAMES M'CALL FOR HIGH PRICES

HUDSON, Oct. 11.—Frederick W. Mansfield, democratic candidate for governor, speaking at rallies last night here and in Maynard, assailed Gov. McCall for failing to use the power over the necessities of life given him by a recent act of the legislature to reduce prices.

"This act," said Mr. Mansfield, "gives the governor power 'to investigate the holdings of food in cold storage warehouses, the supplying of coal, clothing and materials for shelter; it gives him power to seize any or all of these articles if he deems it necessary; COLUMBUS DAY IN THE SCHOOLS

Columbus day was appropriately observed in the public and parochial schools of this city this afternoon with special exercises by the pupils in which honor was paid to the noted discoverer. A new tone—another era of the present—found its way into all the programs. The greatness of the Genoese was dwelt upon but there followed the portrayal of lessons which we of the present day might derive from his story, and most significant of all was the application which we should make of these lessons in view of the present war.

At the high school the exercises were held at the noon hour. The freshmen and sophomore classes were dismissed and the other classes gathered in the hall. The principal address was given by Superintendent of Schools Hugh J. Molloy, a custom which has been followed out in the high school since October became a legal holiday in this state. In the grammar schools the exercises were for the most part held in the afternoon noon. The programs in the various schools were as follows:

LETTER FROM LOWELL BOY IN TRENCHES

Robert Campbell of this city, who was one of the local railroad men to go "over there" last summer with the Fourth Reserve Engineer Regiment, after being encamped at Rockingham park for several months, has arrived in France with the rest of his unit, and in an interesting letter to Mr. Harry N. Barr of 53 Beech street, this city, he tells as far as the censor will allow him, what the Lowell men are doing.

The letter is part as follows:

"We had some trip across the lake—the writer had given the name of the port, but from there we went to a camp which was but a short distance away. We arrived here at 2 o'clock in the morning and the march in the rain and dark helped us to realize that we were in a foreign land."

"We were at that camp about a week and during that time we marched through the streets of London. It was some reception that we received there; I don't think that there were so many people left in the whole of England. We were all called 'Sammy'; nobody could make out the uniform which we wore—it is so different from that to which they are accustomed. We were received by the king and queen, and perhaps this was the most impressive part of the whole affair. The palace was surrounded by people and, of course, the king and queen stood out as most prominent. They stood as the soldiers passed by, and they had some stand, too, because there were more than 4000 men in line.

"Well, now we're really arrived in France. Of course, you don't know where but we are working every day building railroads. Just at present we are 12 miles from the front line, so you can imagine what we see and hear. The last camp we had was a little nearer the line but they moved us back to this place. They have us break camp almost every week, just like tramps on the move.

"We are living in the best of tents, with cots and blankets just like at home, and we have all kinds of 'eats,' including home-made pies and cake and even pluck soup.

"I hope you didn't get drafted; I did but I beat them to it this time. I am doing a good deal of work and I am glad to follow you know. They are all boys from the road."

"Well, I cannot tell you very much about this country because everything about this country is new to me. I have not been in any town where picture postcards are sold and even if I do get a hold of one I'll have to wait for it to come."

"It will be some time before you receive this letter but don't delay in answering it because the post office is the only way in which we can communicate. We have had one payday while we've been here and that created a little excitement because everybody had money. Two days after we were all broke again."

LOWELL GIRLS ORGANIZE "REGIMENT OF DEATH"

Massachusetts now has a real girl "Battalion of Death," willing to fight the Germans and face poison gas and liquid fire for their country. And the battalion is right here in Lowell.

The last word having to do with the formation of this charming company was spoken at city hall last night when about 75 attractive young women responded to the call of Miss Emma Leclair of 72 Cabot street and gathered in the aldermanic chamber for the purpose of perfecting a military organization. In the course of the evening the company was addressed by Mayor Jas. E. O'Donnell, officers were elected, plans for the holding of drills were discussed and other important business transacted.

was transacted. The matter of uniform was discussed at length, but no action was taken.

In the early evening some fifty young women gathered at the home of Miss Leclair in Cabot street and after forming in two's marched to city hall. The meeting was opened at 7:30 o'clock by Mayor O'Donnell, who extended the visitors a cordial welcome. His Honor said the action of the young women in forming a military company is unusual in Lowell, and in fact in America. He outlined the work of Miss Leclair in preparing to organize her company and told how she had secured the permission of Brig. Gen. Butler Ames, subject to the consent of the local municipal council. He said the company would not be called upon for active service as the women of Russia were called upon to fight, but the organization would prove very useful by encouraging young men to enlist and by carrying out branches of co-operative work. "You must be taught discipline," continued Miss Leclair, "and how to obey orders and you must learn how to improve your physical conditions. The people of Lowell, and it may be the people of the continent as well, will know with interest your progress as probably the first women's military organization of its kind in the history of the country."

The mayor suggested that the company be called "Company A, Lowell Militia Girls," and the suggestion was accepted.

It was close of the mayor's address the election of officers took place, with the following result: Miss Emma Leclair, chairman; Misses Florence Campbell, Anna McGovern and Mary Griffin, vice chairmen; Miss Marion Dillon, recording secretary; Miss Florence Fare, financial secretary; Miss Nellie Thomas, treasurer; Misses Christine Flynn, Agnes Burrows, Catherine May, Eva Bonini and Cora Davis, board of directors. The military officers will be chosen later.

It was voted to give the organization the name of Company A, Lowell Militia Girls, and that an assessment of 10 cents a week be taken, which will be used for the purchase of uniforms. It was also decided not to allow married women to join the organization, while it will be included in the by-laws that any member of the organization who becomes a bride will automatically retire from the ranks. The purchase of a uniform was discussed at length, but action was deferred to a later date. The rolls of the company will be limited to 125, and of this number 107 have already enlisted. The next meeting will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in front of the state armory in Westford street, where photographs of the company will be taken.

Those who attended the meeting last evening, besides the officers elected, were as follows: Misses Margaret Mulvey, Anna Bralton, Helen Gilliland, Dell Shannon, Yvonne Leclair, Bessie Haglund, Mary Laporte, Marion C. Bright, Yvonne Morier, Anna Conroy, Winnie Chubb, Edna Cantler, Edna Lord, Alexina Noro, Helmi M. Canning, Harriet Delderfeld, Yvonne Vachon, Mae Newton, Ruth Hill, Anna Hanson, Anna Macpherson, Agnes Kelley, Helen Foyle, Lillian Sealer, Lillian LaJelle, Olga Jolin, Esther Tobin, Elizabeth Lomax, Lottie Flanagan, Florence Lamont, Florence Chubb, Mary Rose, Tullie Agnes, Elger, Bertha Vezina, Annie Williams, Maybelle Studer, Della Ribardy, Lita E. EVERETT E. TARBOX SUES CITY TO RECOVER MONEY DUE HIM FOR AUDIT

Everett E. Tarbox, the expert accountant who has audited the city's books and who later filed a bill amounting to about $1300 with the municipal council, has brought suit against the city after refusal on the part of the city fathers to pay the bill. The case will be heard by the justice of the peace court on Oct. 24. J. Joseph Hennessey will appear for Mr. Tarbox, while the city will be represented by City Solicitor William D. Regan.

On the same date, Oct. 24, another case against the city is scheduled to go on trial before the justice of the peace court, that of Catherine Gorman, who claims that in 1916 she slipped and fell on the oily surface of Summer street and fractured her knee in four places. The ad damnum in this case is $1000.

LOWELL BOY SCOUTS

Next Sunday the members of the troop will attend a solemn mass in the Notre Dame de Lourdes church at 10:30 o'clock.

AMONG HUBBLE CLASS
The annual meeting of the Amosia hubbly class, the first Baptist church was held last night at the home of Misses Lillian and Marion Kydd, 55 Dover street. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, Florence Gulline; vice president, Stella Slead; secretary, Elizabeth Hamilton and treasurer, Rebecca Thompson. The program featured a shower for Miss Bernice Brodie. There were many beautiful gifts presented her and a happy evening enjoyed. Dainty refreshments were served during the evening.

GERMAN PAPER BARRED FROM THE MAELS

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—On instructions from Washington local postoffice officials yesterday notified the publishers of the New Yorker Volks Zeitung, official organ of the German-speaking socialists in the east that the privileges of the second class mail had been withdrawn. The newspaper recently was named by the Liberty loan committee as having refused to accept a Liberty loan advertisement put out by New York banks.

NEW CRISIS IN GERMANY

Conditions of German political life, it is contended will undoubtedly from now on work against von Behringmann-Hoelger's success.

The immediate results of the disclosures of Chancellor Michaelis and Vice Admiral von Capelle have been that the government socialists have been driven into complete opposition and into alignment with the radical socialists. The followers of Philipp Scheidemann have delivered a formal declaration of war against the government until Chancellor Michaelis has been removed from office, and that the radicals, the members of the center and even the national liberals have criticized and condemned the Michaelis-Capelle move as one which ought not to have been made unless the government had full adequate proof of the complicity of the three radical socialists in an actual conspiracy to mutiny—proof which they evidently believe the government was unable to produce.

Stripped of its embellishments, the government's statement reduced itself to the charge that agitation to enroll members for the radical socialist party had been carried on in the navy; that radicals had been distributed and that two of the executed sailors had visited Desputes Haase, Vogther and Dittman. The fact that the government made no attempt to bring them to trial before or after the court martial at Wilhelmshaven on Aug. 30, and they argued that the crown prosecutor had not had any evidence upon which to convict them, this argument evidently appeals to all but the conservative element. It has delated the attitude of a large share of the press, which, despite dislike for the radical socialists, takes the stand that Chancellor Michaelis missed the affair for political capital.

Theatre of Scandal

ROTTERDAM, Oct. 11.—The statements of Vice Admiral von Capelle, the German minister of marine, who turned the reichstag into a theatre of the wildest scandal, says the Vorwarts, discussing the exposures of mutinies within the German navy. The socialist newspaper adds that there is no shadow of proof that any deputies were guilty of illegal action in connection with the mutiny.

The Vossische Zeitung describes the attack on the independent socialists as a deplorable and illegal trick on the part of the government. The socialist contends that if the reichstag believes that the independent socialists are guilty they must be handed over to the courts. The Koelnische Zeitung expresses surprise that the government "when it had spent the reichstag on the trial against three persons suspected of treason did not ask the consent of the reichstag to take legal measures. No valid excuse could be made for the refusal of consent." The newspaper complains that the treatment of the affair in the reichstag will be explained abroad to the disadvantage of Germany.

Iron Severity for Plotters

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 11.—Those guilty of complicity in the plot to paralyze the German navy through mutinies will be handled with iron severity, says the Rheinische Westfälische Zeitung of Essen. It adds: "They are to have the death penalty. Thank God, Liebknecht (the German socialist leader now in prison) was properly dealt with and in the present case there can only be similar action."

Kaiser's Revolt

LONDON, Oct. 11.—News of a mutiny in the German battleship fleet at Wilhelmshaven, which was suppressed with an iron hand and the execution of ring leaders by the emperor's command, has carried into a new and bitter phase the conflict between the reichstag and the government.

Details of the mutiny reaching Holland show that the crews of four battleships rose in revolt, one of them, the Westfalen, whose captain was thrown aboard and drowned, and the Hagueno despatch to the Daily Mail says that according to the report there the mutinous battleships at Wilhelmshaven included the Lipud and the Kaiser.

The crews landed and marines were ordered to fire on them, but refused. Sailors were thereupon ordered to surround the sailors, who were surrendered. Emperor William went to Wilhelmshaven and ordered that one out of every seven sailors be shot. Chancellor Michaelis protested, with the result that only three were shot. Heavy sentences were imposed on the others.

A mutiny is reported to have occurred on the German warship Nürnberg, at sea. The men seized the officers and proceeded in the direction of Norway, with the intention of being interned. The Nürnberg was overtaken by destroyers and forced to surrender.

How You Can Quickly Remove Hairy Growths

(Aids to Beauty)

A well known beauty specialist advises this treatment for the removal of hair from the face. Mix into a paste some powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface and after about 2 minutes rub off, wash the skin and every trace of hair has vanished. This method is quick and entirely safe. To avoid disappointment, however, it is well to make certain you get genuine delatone.

CLARK FAMILY IS DOING ITS BIT FOR U. S.

Mr. George Clark of this city, employed as a pier in the Boot mills, lays claim to a family war record that few, if any, men in Lowell can claim.

The Clark family has been identified with the U. S. navy for nearly a century.

Mr. Clark's grandfather, John H. Clark, was in the navy during the Seminole war, "way back in the early 30's." His father, also named John H., enlisted in the navy in 1840 and was on the "Ohio" during the Mexican war, returning from that war as captain of the fore-top, a position that required an expert seaman. His father was discharged from the service in 1848, but immediately entered the government service at the Charlestown navy yard, where he was employed continuously for 30 years, being assistant of Naval Constructor Ned Hart during the Civil war and for many years served as dockmaster at the navy yard.

George Clark, himself, enlisted in the navy in the early 80's and was an engineer's yeoman on board the "loop of war" "Vandalia," when she went down at Samoa with the "Ossipee," "Trenton" and others in the memorable "blow" in 1888 that caught the ships with their steam down. Today Mr. Clark has three sons in the service of Uncle Sam, and like their ancestors, all in the navy. Edward Clark, the oldest son when last heard from three years ago, was on a ship in the North Sea; John, who has recently re-enlisted, is at Charlestown awaiting orders while Arthur, the youngest, is at the Naval Training school at Newport. John Clark was aboard the "Nebraska" during the trouble at Vera Cruz in 1914 and the power station at Vera Cruz was turned over to him and his men when the American blue-jackets went ashore. His father claims that John is the only man in the United States who has served on the Vera Cruz in 1914, who had a grandfather who was present in the service when Vera Cruz was won in the 40's. "If only regret," says George, "that I haven't a few more to enlist, for they all enlisted without waiting to be drafted."

GERMANY READY TO GIVE UP BELGIUM

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 11.—During debate in the reichstag yesterday Deputy Conrad Haussman said the declaration of Dr. von Kuehlmann, the foreign secretary that apart from Alsace-Lorraine there is no absolute bar to peace—was tantamount to a definite undertaking that Belgium should be given up.

"That should be heralded forth to all the nations," the deputy added.

Gustav Stresemann, a national liberal, said he would not oppose a resolution of the reichstag, but he thought disarmament hardly was practical politics.

Count von Westarp, conservative, thought that Germany's answer to the pope ought to have made clear that Germany would not undertake to disarm and hoped that von Kuehlmann had not let himself be yielding up Belgium.

George Ledebour, social democrat leader, dwelt on the damage done to the German cause by the revelations concerning von Luxburg, the German minister to Argentina. He considered that the population of occupied territory should be permitted to decide their own fate.

Save your hair and beautify it with "DANDERINE"

Spend 25 cents! Dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Try this! Hair gets beautiful, wavy and thick in few moments.

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scourge robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome at a very early stage, it leads to the loss of the hair roots, thinning, looseness and die; then the hair falls out neglected.

If your hair has been neglected, is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will find this was the best investment you ever made. We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. It eventually—why not now?

PLOT TO EXPORT TUNGSTEN

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—A plot to export tungsten, a metal used to harden steel, from this country on board the Scandinavian-American liner United States in violation of the espionage act and President Wilson's proclamation, was broken up today by federal agents with the arrest of three men here. The illicit export of the metal, presumably for Germany has been going on for some time, the United States attorney announced.

One of the men arrested was Fritz Gerndal, a steward on the United States. Federal agents say they found on him a brass check for a suitcase which when located and opened, contained 40 pounds of tungsten and that a section of the liner brought in light 150 pounds more concealed under a stateroom floor.

The other two men arrested were Waldemar J. Adams and Robert Olson, both Swedish partners here in a Swedish book store to which Gerndal made many trips while under the surveillance of government agents. When Gerndal before a United States commissioner they were held in $2500 bail, while Gerndal was held in $3500.

Harold A. Content, assistant United States district attorney, who presented the case, declared that the breaking up of the plot "is equivalent to the sinking of ten German submarines."

COLUMBIANS' DANCE TONIGHT

A big patriotic dancing party will be held in Associate hall this evening under the auspices of the Columbians. This organization is composed of prominent local young men, and they plan to provide a great entertainment for their many friends. Many novel features, appropriate for the anniversary of Columbus, after whom the club was named, will be given. Miner-Doyle's celebrated orchestra, which played so well at the Lakeview dance hall all summer, has been secured and will leave nothing to be desired in the musical line. The orchestra will play a number of old-time favorite numbers, and several new patriotic selections will also be given. Those seeking a good time can find no better place than Associate tonight.

BRUNSWICK ALLEYS

The Brunswick alleys are to open tonight, and to make the opening events interesting there a prize is offered for the high score. See advertisement in the sport page. John McNulty, manager.

WELL KNOWN RESIDENTS SPEAK

Many are the letters received by Dr. Pierce, at Buffalo, N. Y., from his patients in New England. There are a few from Massachusetts.

Mrs. Amanda E. Hurt, of 15 Chandler street, Framingham, Mass., says: "For several years I worked in a lumber camp and had very severe colds and coughs. I always found quick relief in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I have also used this medicine as a tonic every spring for many years with wonderful results."

Mrs. Minnie J. Collins, who lives at 7 Hawley st., Worcester, Mass., says: "Some time ago I was in a terrible nervous state and all around me. My doctor said I was verging on nervous prostration but he did not seem to help me, so I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and felt better immediately. Three bottles was all that I used of this medicine and it certainly did wonders for me. I take pleasure in recommending the 'Discovery' as being all that it is represented to be."

This herbal tonic is made up in liquid or tablet form and can be obtained in any drug store in Massachusetts peculiar to women and the 'Golden Medical Discovery' helped me to recover from a very bad cough which the doctors thought was consumption and

There can no longer be any doubt as to the overpowering force with which the Allies are hammering the enemy on the western front. Formerly the despatches printed in the press were such as to give no positive proof of Allied gain. In many cases the Allied claims of victory were contradicted by German reports so that the reader was unable to decide which was right.

This situation has been relieved by General Pershing who has cabled an account of the splendid work being done by the British and the French on the western front and attaching the greatest importance to the campaign now being conducted by General Haig in Flanders.

Secretary Baker in a review of the recent events in the war also indicates that the Allies have made important gains in the past few weeks and that at present the British threaten the Ostend-Lille railroad and the submarine bases on the coast.

Already the heights commanding the level plain leading to the coast have been captured and unless the bad weather intervenes the Germans may be driven from their principal strongholds in Belgium before Christmas. At the same time the toll of the submarines has been cut down to such an extent that the marine insurance of ships crossing the Atlantic from these shores has been materially reduced.

All this is very encouraging. The more the Allies do now the less the United States troops will have to do in the spring.

Germany's ideal of world dominion is already smashed, her plan for a Central Europe empire from the North Sea to the Persian Gulf will also be shattered in the near future. Germany had also planned a middle African domain, but that hope has vanished as has her vaunting ambition to conquer the United States and seize South America.

For forty years the Kaiser has been dreaming of Pan-Germanism and he has openly proclaimed himself as the instrument of God to carry out his plan of Germanizing the world. Fortunately for the world the ravages of this monster of cruelty, this wreck of civilization, have been checked and his final defeat is now inevitable, whether it comes this year or next year. He is strenuously seeking a peace that will save him from a worse fate than that which befell Napoleon.

FOR INDUSTRIAL PEACE

It is highly gratifying that the local mills granted an increase of wages so promptly. The sum of $25,000 distributed through the city in addition to the wages formerly drawn will help to meet the demands of the winter. Moreover, this voluntary increase will insure industrial peace which never was more essential than at present.

There has been a small but yet a very annoying strike on here for several weeks, the merits of which we do not know.

The men on strike may be justified in their position or they may not; but we do know that there should be no strike in any mechanical trade in the country at this time. Whatever the differences may be between employer and employed they should be submitted to arbitration and settled without further ado. It is unparliamentary to tie up any industry that might help in the war either directly or indirectly and there is none that cannot do its share in one of these two ways.

While men are idle they are not earning money to purchase Liberty bonds, while industries are idle they destroy the earning power of the employees and thus directly oppose the aims of the government which demands service from all residents, young and old, rich and poor, for the duration of the war.

These long drawn out labor disputes should be abandoned at least while the war lasts. They are simply ruinous to all concerned in times like these. The parties concerned should call in the arbitrators and let all such disputes be settled without stopping the wheels of progress and industry.

It would be well if we had compulsory arbitration, but in the absence of any such remedy, the parties to every dispute over labor conditions or wages should so far regard the interests of the nation as to find a peaceable means of settling all such differences as may arise during the war.

Industrial peace during the war should be adopted as a principle by all unions and all employers. Both sides will be benefited in the long run by submitting such questions to arbitration.

HUMAN HARPIES AT WORK

Occasionally the worst afflictions of mankind are made use of for the purposes of fraud.

A few weeks ago somebody started chain letters each asking a contribution of 24 cents for the purpose of buying anesthetics to be used in surgical operations in treating the men wounded in the war. The chain is made in the letters that anesthetics are lacking on the battlefronts and that as a result operations entailing frightful pain are performed without their use.

These letters have been brought to the attention of the war department which has inquired of the French and English war offices and received the reply that no such need exists, that there has always been an abundant supply of anesthetics for such operations.

Other frauds less appealing are being conducted by parties who have no intention of turning the money they collect over to the various relief funds. The public must therefore, exercise caution in dealing with the indiscriminate appeals for relief funds. There are so many deserving claims for relief that it is a pity to allow any swindler to victimize the charitably disposed. The men of women who do these things are veritable human harpies, quite as bad as the wretch who made a tour of New England and collected money from the relatives of soldiers for the purpose of sending the ashes of the heroes in special urns from France, even when the soldiers concerned were alive and well.

It is too bad that such people cannot be made to taste the ignominy they willfully bring to their dupes.

GIRLS IN THE BOWLING ALLEYS

We have no doubt that the intention of those who would employ young girls to set up pins on bowling alleys may be good, but we are emphatically opposed to the employment of girls for any such purpose. There are many occupations in which young girls may properly be substituted for boys, but this is not one of them. The position of the uniformed girl setting up pins in a bowling alley either by day or by night would, in our humble opinion, be dangerous in more ways than one, and would moreover, be a step toward the degradation of the sex that should not be countenanced. There are boys in plenty to do this work and they will do it gladly if the rate of wages be such as to offer any inducement.

COLUMBUS DAY

There will be no Columbus Day parades this year. The money usually expended on celebrations will be used to help purchase Liberty Bonds. That is the best kind of celebration for this year.

The talks in the schools on fire prevention are likely to have good results. That kind of instruction cannot be started too early.

An eight-page illustrated Sunday Supplement is given away free with Saturday's editions of The Sun—don't miss it.

SEEN AND HEARD

Save your money—it is wiser—Buy a bond and eat the Kaiser.

You can't go out with a double-barreled shot gun and find the Kaiser. The only way to take a long-distance crack at him is to buy a Liberty bond.

PRES. WILSON PROCLAIMS U.S. FOOD CONTROL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Government control of foodstuffs is extended to take in virtually all the essential articles of diet by a proclamation issued last night by President Wilson directing the food administration to license after Nov. 1 the manufacture, storage, importation and distribution of some 20 prime commodities.

Many small dealers are exempted, as farmers, who were especially excepted in the food control law.

The move was forecast in a statement last night by the food administration declaring it was necessary to prevent unreasonable profits and to stop hoarding and speculation.

President's Proclamation

After quoting the food control act under which the action is taken, the president's proclamation says:

"It is essential, in order to carry into effect the purposes of said act, to license the importation, manufacture, storage and distribution of necessities to the extent hereinafter specified:

"All persons, firms, corporations and associations engaged in the business either of:

"(1) Operating cold storage warehouses (a cold storage warehouse for the purpose of this proclamation being defined as any place artificially or mechanically cooled to or below a temperature of 45 degrees Fahrenheit, in which food products are placed and held for 30 days or more);

"(2) Operating elevators, warehouses or other places for storage of corn, oats, barley, beans, rice, cottonseed, cottonseed cake, cottonseed meal or peanut meal; or

"(3) Importing, manufacturing (including milling, mixing or packing) or distributing (including buying or selling) any of the following commodities:

"Dried prunes, apples, peaches or raisins.

"Sugar, sirups or molasses.

"Any new regulation to secure on or before Nov. 1, 1917, a license, which license will be issued under such rules and regulations governing the conduct of the business as may be prescribed.

Penalties $5000 or Two Years

"Applications for the license must be made to the United States food administration, Washington, D. C., law department, license division, on forms prepared by it in advance for that purpose, which may be secured on request.

"Any person, firm or corporation, association other than those hereafter executed, who shall engage in or carry on any business hereafter specified after Nov. 1, 1917, without first securing such license will be liable to the penalty prescribed by said act of congress.

The penalties prescribed for violation of the act are a fine of $5000 or imprisonment of not more than two years.

List of Exemptions

The exemptions referred to above are given as follows:

"Excepting, however, the following:

AROOSTOOK POTATO CROP UNDER SNOW

BOULTON, Me., Oct. 11.—With the thermometer registering 25 degrees above zero and a storm which brought three inches of snow, Aroostook county is experiencing winter weather. It is the first time for more than a quarter of a century that a snow storm has come so early. The snow will seriously interfere with the work of harvesting the potato crop.

WHI Ship $800,000 Bushels

"CARIBOU, Me., Oct. 10.—The total shipment of potatoes from Aroostook this year up to Oct. 8 has been 1,381 carloads. Last year during the same period the shipments were 2,031 cars.

The present price, however, is much above that of last year at this time.

Good judges estimate that Aroostook county will not have more than 8,500,000 bushels to ship this year.

MORE MONEY RAISED FOR SOLDIERS' TOBACCO FUND AT KEITH'S THEATRE

More money was raised for the soldiers' tobacco fund from the collection taken up at Keith's theatre last night, when $137.65 was realized. SAYS CONGRESS MUST PASS NEW DRAFT LAW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Representative Kahn of California, the republican who led the administration forces in the house when the army draft law was passed, said yesterday a new draft act would have to be passed at the next session of congress to reach the many young men who have become 21 years of age since May 18 last, and that it probably would amend the existing law so as to register youths from 16 to 17 to become automatically subject to call on reaching the age of 21.

Mr. Kahn also said he intended to make a fight for a universal training law and an act to deal with alien slackers without violating treaty obligations.

"Sixty per cent. of the American boys are being rejected for physical disability, a percentage that is appalling," said Mr. Kahn. "That means that six out of every 10 young men between the ages of 21 and 31 are so deficient physically that they cannot be taken into the United States army, a fact that must be a revelation to thinking people of the country, though the proportion of the deficient is not quite so great as was the case in England. Universal training would give the young men thorough knowledge of hygiene and sanitation and would develop a race of men strong physically and mentally."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
Heading a bill of superior merit at the B. F. Keith theatre this week, is the noted lyric tenor, Will Oakland, in a decidedly pretty sketch called "Danny O'Gill, U.S.A." Oakland appears to particular advantage in this little play. Of course, beyond all else, he is the natural singer, who delights in giving the old songs, although not adverse to pealing forth the better of the popular numbers. As the young Irishman who returns to his native land from America, Oakland has a dash and jauntness to him which is bound to make an appeal. New York, And, then, there is a comedy by Carson & Willard, which isn't like anything we have had here this year. It shows plan-

tan today—and thirty years hence. It shows the men of today, and what they may be expected to look like in 1947. And there is decidedly breezy comedy playing all through it.

Maleta Bonconi is, without doubt, the most finished violin virtuoso who has appeared at this theatre in many months. An artist to her finger tips, she draws out most charming melodies—classics, every one of them. Everywhere she has been lauded for her exceptional work.

For eccentric dancing that is away from the ordinary lines, of such acts, let us commend you to the work of Charles and Adelaide Wilkins. How the woman teaches—or tries to teach—the man the tango, or causes a lot of heart-breaking laughter. Clara and Emily Barry, the two lively daughters of the only Jimmie Barry, present the best mixture of song, dancing and fun they have ever had. It is done to a nicety. The opening act of the bill is by Zeda & Hoot, who have a contortionalistic fantasy. The week's big picture feature is "Fighting Odds," with Maxine Elliott in the principal role. The Hearst-Pathé pictures are also commendatory.

OPENIA HOUSE

A theatre party, composed of members of Lowell lodge of Elks, will attend the performance of "The Lost Paradise," by the Emerson Players at the Opera House tonight, as a testimony to Roy Walling and Jerome Kennedy, brother members of the organization. The play is scoring one of the biggest hits of the season and richly deserves the favorable reports being accorded it from all sides. The strike scene especially, in which Kenneth Fleming as the spokesman for the laboring class presents the claims of the workers in a stirring and thrilling scene and action. Roy Walling is another member of the cast who finds himself well cast in the role of "Heaven Warner," the superintendent of the factory who sticks by his men even at the threatened loss of his position and the love and respect of the girl he hopes to win. Miss Livingston is also found in a congenial role while the remainder of the supporting cast is well assigned. The staging of the piece is wonderfully well done and must be seen to be best appreciated.

THE STRAND

Beginning today and continuing through Saturday the program at The Strand will include that wonderful photo-drama, "To The Death," introducing Mme. Petrova, the great Russian actress in the title role. A finely balanced cast has been selected to produce this Metro wonder-play in which Mme. Petrova interprets the stellar part of "Blanca Sylva," the beautiful Corsican laconchier. Those who have witnessed the pictureization unhesitatingly pronounce it one of the most highly dramatic and interesting shown in many months. The story of the picture play offers opportunity for some thrilling dramatic endeavor. The added feature for the week-end program is "Polly Ann," a five-act creation in which Bessie Love is the central figure. The comedy offering is a Keystone production, entitled "The Pawnbroker's Heart," and the educational picture will be a series of views of Uncle Sam's great salmon ranches. The picture shows you where the salmon comes from and the various characteristics of the game fish in the world. The Travelogue will be another interesting and instructive feature that will be greatly appreciated. The song numbers by The Strand singers, Miss Joseph Isloib, soloist, will be all new and the selection by the big Strand Symphony orchestra, Arthur J. Martel conductor, will also be new. The organ recital will include new numbers as well.

On Friday, Columbus day, the performance will run from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m. The prices of seats are 10 and 15 cents for matinees, and 25 cents for boxes and loges, night 15 and 25 cents. Loges and box seats tickets will be reserved on telephone orders up to 2 p. m. and 7 p. m. on the day of the performance. Evening prices will prevail at Sunday and holiday matinees.

MOTORMAN IN BRIDGE TRAGEDY TESTIFIES

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—Gerald Walsh, 26, motorman on the ill-fated elevated car which crashed over the draw of the Summer street extension bridge into Fort Point channel, testified in the superior criminal court yesterday at his trial before Judge Dana and a jury, on an indictment accusing him of manslaughter through alleged recklessness and negligent handling of the cars.

He came from Ireland two or three years ago. On June 8, 1916, he went to work as an extra motorman and was over the route of the Summer street bridge before the day of the accident. He knew there was a draw there.

He picked the 5.13 trip on Nov. 7 and took the car from the barn at South Boston. He said he slowed down at Melcher street to allow a passenger to get on and then he started up again and the car was going at about eight or 10 miles an hour when within 25 or 30 feet from the gates of the draw he noticed the gates were closed.

He became excited and it was a second or two before he got control of himself. Then he tried to stop the car. The rail was damp and the brake worked hard. It was also difficult to use the brake because of the crowd on the platform.

The car went through the gates and came almost to a stop, but he saw the car would not stop before it crashed over the edge of the draw. He said he saw the car go over the edge of the draw and all on the front platform got off. He was the last to jump off the platform.

He had then applied his reverse and the brakes and could do nothing further. When he jumped off he fell, and when he started to get up the car was coming over the edge of the bridge into the channel. He said he could not get at the sand rail because of the crowd on the platform.

He said it was dark at the bridge; the car light was not lighted and there was no red lantern on the gate. The headlights of his car throw a light about 10 feet.

MANSFIELD BLAMES M'CALL FOR HIGH PRICES

HUDSON, Oct. 11.—Frederick W. Mansfield, democratic candidate for governor, speaking at rallies last night here and in Maynard, assailed Gov. McCall for failing to use the power over the necessities of life given him by a recent act of the legislature to reduce prices.

This act, said Mr. Mansfield, gives the governor power to investigate the holdings of food in cold storage warehouses, the supplying of coal, clothing and materials for shelter; it gives him power to seize any or all of these articles if he deems it necessary; to seize railroad cars, locomotives, motor trucks, trolley cars, steamboats, railroad lines and wharf property for the purpose of distributing such necessities of life to the people; it gives him power to regulate prices and fix the maximum charge for which the necessities of life shall be sold. It gives him more power than Mr. McCall or Mr. McCall has at the present time.

"Yet, notwithstanding the suffering of the poor people, the constantly increasing prices for the necessities of life, and notwithstanding the countless complaints, he has done absolutely nothing about it. He has not raised his finger or his voice to give the people any relief under the tremendous powers granted to him under this act."

"The governor cannot say that there has been no cause to use the act. A committee of labor men waited upon him and asked him to do something about it, but they were ignored."

"The reports from Washington show that the holdings of food in the cold storage warehouses of New England at the present time averaged 150 per cent. higher than they were a year ago. There are millions more pounds of beef and fowl; millions more cases of eggs, and the same is true of pork, lamb and almost all food products. Yet, notwithstanding this greater supply of foods the prices are still higher."

"Why has the governor done nothing about it? I am convinced that a great proportion of the increase in prices was unjustified and that the food barons of the country are taking advantage of the war to rob the people unjustly."

"If I were governor of this commonwealth and had that tremendous power, I would exercise it. I would not least try to do something for the people and I would see that if I am elected governor I will do all that one man can do to bring down the cost of necessities of life to the people."

Other speakers at the rallies were Sherman Hoar, ex-Senator Charles McCarthy, Major Thos. Walsh and Whitfield Tuck.

HAPPIEST WOMAN IN NEW ENGLAND FOUND IN FALL RIVER

Says Health is Wonderful Blessing—Suffered Years From Chronic Rheumatism of Joints

"Health is a wonderful blessing; one never appreciates good health until attacked by disease. I am rich in health today; that's why I believe I am the happiest woman in the body, my knees were very bad so that it was almost impossible to go up or down stairs, the stiffness was intense after sitting down any length of time and attempting to get up.

"I know I neglected my health, for when I first noticed the pains I paid very little attention to them, finally the joints got so stiff and painful I had to give up completely. Two physicians treated me but failed to relieve the pain. For weeks at a time I was confined to my bed and after getting up I was just able to limp about."

"I was unable to bend my knee and when I walked on the street attracted attention because I was so lame. My ankles troubled me a great deal and for four months I was confined to the house, only able to move about with the greatest effort and suffering constantly."

"Reading so much about Var-ne-sis and what it was doing for others suffering the same as I was I made up my mind I would give it a trial. I thank God I found this good remedy, it was a wonderful find for me. After taking Var-ne-sis for some time all the pain and stiffness left me. I am today free from rheumatism and haven't an ache or a pain."

"I owe my good health to Var-ne-sis and want to do all I can to help others find health as I have."

W. A. Varney says: "Var-ne-sis conquers rheumatism. The evidence is all constantly producing no one can dispute. Every testimonial I publish is a true statement of facts. I will pay the expense of three business men to investigate the evidence I produce, providing they will allow me to publish the results over their names. Can I do more?"

You ought to read "The Rust of Human Hinges," just off the press. It's free. Just address W. A. Varney, Lynn, Mass.

Var-ne-sis does not contain salicylate of soda, iodides, pepper or capsicum, but is composed of herbs, roots and barks. Var-ne-sis tends to help the stomach.

world," says Mrs. Marion Bossen of 374 Bedford St., Fall River, Mass.

"It was wonderful to be able to go about without a pain or an ache after suffering for years from chronic rheumatism of the joints. I suffered pain in almost every joint in my

of the meeting that a minimum of change be added to the expense of delivery of small orders. There were several new members admitted.

The regular meeting of Lowell lodge, Royal Order of Moose, was held last night at its quarters in Odd Fellows building. Dictator John B. Macdonald presiding. Secretary Keegan read a communication from National Director Hayden pertaining to the war relief work that the order contemplates doing, not alone in this country, but in France.

It is the intention of the commission to direct the expenditure of $20,000 voted at the recent convention in Pittsburg, to erect club houses behind the lines in France, to which members may come during their periods of rest, also to obtain comfortable quarters for wounded and convalescent members. The ambulance provided for by the war contribution fund will be guided by the commission through the direct control of the American Red Cross.

Fifteen applications were then received and acted upon favorably after which Chairman Edward St. Leger of the organization committee reported that a large class initiation would be held on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 11, at 2 o'clock, at the following:

MATHEWS HONOR GREAT APOSTLE'S MEMORY

The Mathew Temperance Institute fittingly observed the 121th anniversary of the birth of its founder, Rev. Theobald Mathew, last evening with a banquet in the institute hall which recalled the usual features of such affairs as well as several innovations. The patriotic element seemed to predominate. The Mathews themselves, ever noted for their love of country, perhaps reached the maximum of patriotic display last evening. The scene of the affair, the hall itself, was ornate with the national colors. The speakers of the evening could not refrain from striking, intermittently, at least, patriotic notes in their addresses. But perhaps most impressive of all was the presence of a number of young men in the audience—members of the "Mats," yes, but before all else, members of their country's fighting forces.

The evening's program presented a number of prominent and interesting speakers. Mr. O'Donnell, Gen. Gardner W. Pearson and Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, Ph. D., were the principal ones and they each spoke on topics which were varied yet subtly related with the spirit of Mathewdom. Caterer Harvey was perhaps the most popular gentleman on last evening's program. He served a menu which would make Mr. Hoover's guests envious. The war was over. Everybody had plenty and when the tables had been cleared the Mathews and their lady friends—for there were many of them—went back to listen to the speakers and entertainers.

President John J. Townsend was the first speaker and he spoke in a congratulatory and inspiring manner. He told of the underlying purpose of the evening's occasion and said that it was fitting that the Mathew Temperance Institute should observe the 121th anniversary of the birth of its founder. He said that it was fitting that the Mathew Temperance Institute should observe the 121th anniversary of the birth of its founder. He said that it was fitting that the Mathew Temperance Institute should observe the 121th anniversary of the birth of its founder.

In concluding he introduced John W. Sharkey as toastmaster of the evening. Mr. Sharkey was received enthusiastically and he spoke in part as follows: It is eminently fitting that the mayor, as official representative of the community when honor and reverence are paid to the memory of the great apostle of temperance, should be present. It is fitting that the mayor, as official representative of the community when honor and reverence are paid to the memory of the great apostle of temperance, should be present.

It is fitting that the mayor, as official representative of the community when honor and reverence are paid to the memory of the great apostle of temperance, should be present.

Mr. Kane, accompanied by Miss Edith Kane, the difficult "Old Refrain" and as an encore "You Brought Ireland Over to Me." Both numbers were well received.

world where liberty and justice are threatened. We all know that a vice grows, like cancer or rust, when it once takes hold of a good and growing body. Whether it is tobacco, opium, alcohol or selfishness, the vice never stands still. Worst still, a vice like alcohol not only destroys the father but crops up in the son and grandson. If we look into the history of America we shall find that the American Indian has disappeared largely from the map in the rum habit. We shall find that the moonshine whiskey districts are apt to be the same as those where the poor white man lives and that there is a steady degeneration from father to son.

In a small town within 40 miles of New York, with less than a thousand people, I counted six barrooms built at the railroad station and found that the worst educated, least progressive, most degenerate people, were the native inhabitants while the better educated, more progressive people were the Italians who had come in recently. I believe it is a matter of history that the fortunes of many New England families have been ruined by the rum habit. I remember in Porto Rico in 1898, we were told to put a little rum in the water so that the water would not hurt us. This was the advice of the natives, but while I never saw a drunkard in Porto Rico, I saw very few who were anxious to work or cared much what happened if they could get a place to sleep and something to eat.

War now is an exact science. An army is a great machine, a country is a greater machine, and the allied countries in the present war are becoming a world machine. Each part must be polished and must fit. Each man must have a clear head and a steady hand. Each soldier is like the athlete training for a duel in the air, each soldier in a fight. Drinking liquor causes rust in a bearing and if one man is off color he may lose his life and the lives of many others.

Gen. Pearson went on to describe modern warfare and explained that while individual courage is necessary in a charge over the top for a duel in the air, such courage will be useless unless backed up by a storm of shells sent with mathematical accuracy aided by airplanes, telephones, supply trains and numerous other parts of an organization trained to the highest efficiency. He said that the man in the factory or the woman in the home should be equally efficient and that especially they should exercise temperance in all things. Temperance in the use of food and fuel.

What is so terribly destructive to the home as the use of alcohol? There are useful and useless occupations. Growing potatoes produces something of value and is useful. Mixing cocktails is not particularly useful as they are likely to cause highly objectionable jags. Running a street car is useful as it helps people get to their work, but running an automobile solely for pleasure can hardly be called useful.

In Maryland it is proposed to make everyone who has no regular useful occupation a leech on the community. We will come to that here if this war lasts. This does not mean that we must all hoe potatoes or make such a job of it. The leech is the man who is doing her part, and so is the bookkeeper who helps to adjust the relative usefulness of men or the doctor who increases their efficiency by keeping them well. The clergyman is doing his bit when he keeps us from straying into the paths of vice, thus injuring our morals and the efficiency of the nation. The organization is doing its bit to increase the efficiency of a National army, not only of those in the trenches, but of those in the factory and the home.

Gen. Pearson closed with a tribute to the flag. John V. Donoghue, a past president of the organization, was introduced, and he recited with sympathy and feeling the "Benediction" picture. He was followed by "Good-bye, My Love, Good-bye," and "The Sunshine of Your Smiles." He was accompanied by Mr. McGlinchey and both his numbers were well received.

Other Speakers. James O'Sullivan, a veteran of the organization, spoke in a reminiscent mood and expressed the hope that the society would persevere in the good work which it was doing. Probation Officer Edward F. Slattery, another veteran, spoke in a humorous vein and incidentally told the members that they should seek the aid of their lady friends in the work of their organization. The affair closed with a reading of the address of the officers of the institute and to the committee which had arranged the banquet and the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Seated at the guests' table last evening were Mayor James E. O'Donnell, Gen. Gardner W. Pearson, Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, Ph. D., John J. Townsend, John W. Sharkey, James O'Sullivan, Edward F. Slattery, James Gannon, vice president of the Mathews, and others. The affair was a success and the members of the organization were well pleased.

8000 FROM AYER GO TO ATLANTA

CAMP DEVENS, Ayer, Oct. 11.—By the end of October some 8000 New England draftees now at this camp, as well as some of those yet to come, will be transferred to Camp Gordon, Atlanta, Ga.

With draftees from other eastern camps they will form a new National army division. The men to be transferred will be taken from practically all branches of the service represented here, and will go as soon as Camp Gordon is in shape to receive them. It is expected that all will be at their new camp within three weeks. They will probably be completely uniformed and equipped before they are sent.

It was announced yesterday that the 600 colored men from Massachusetts, who will arrive at Camp Devens Oct. 17, will not be kept here, as had been announced at Washington, but will be sent to Camp Upton, at Yaphank, L. I.

Rush Bayonet and Rifle Training. In the meantime the work of the men who have been here for two weeks and more and even those who have only been here since last Friday is being pushed intensively. Yesterday men who came in the "second forty" were to be seen practicing with bayonet and rifle, even before they have learned to drill and perform field evolutions. New Bedford and Fall River men were worked all day on bayonet and rifle practice and rifle-shooting. It is hinted that there is a reason for this.

Next week it is expected that some of the men will begin to receive the applicant even yesterday some of them were receiving instructions in going over the top, the top being a small bank running across a field.

Auto Privilege Sold. The privilege of renting automobiles in Depot square to carry passengers to and from the Ayer station to the city, has been sold to a local automobile man by the Boston & Maine railroad, and has been sold to the Skinner Bros. company of Boston for $1000.

The public taxicab has been ordered out of the square and the new company has taken exclusive control. They propose to charge 50 cents a head from the station to the city and 25 cents for a car loaded with one or seven passengers, a rate higher than that charged by the local men, who made the trip for $1.50 whether they carried one or seven.

It is reported that the local automobile men propose to combat this by charging 25 cents a head to any part of the camp, but these plans are not definite.

An order was issued from division headquarters closing three eating places in the town of Ayer to soldiers. The places were inspected by Major Siner, division sanitary inspector, who pronounced them unsanitary.

118 More Men Rejected. Out of 89 men examined by the doctors of the 301st Infantry yesterday, two more were found who had sight in only one eye, one was only 4 feet 11 inches tall, and several had other physical disabilities.

The papers, which are supposed to be filled out by an examining surgeon and sent with a man who is drafted, were in many cases not filled out at all. The word "normal" was simply scribbled lengthwise along the paper and the minute data showing the man's exact physical condition was missing.

LOWELL HISTORICAL SOCIETY. Miss Harriett Francis Bennett, great granddaughter of George W. Brownell while abroad in 1849 at a meeting of the Lowell Historical society last night. Mr. Brownell was superintendent of the Lowell Locks and Canals and was sent abroad to study machinery and locomotive engines. The journal of the European trip has been given to the historical society by Miss Bennett. The diary kept on shipboard makes note, when only a short way out of the fact that it is the day of the "Great Northern" and Mr. Brownell comments on the fact that he is probably no longer an alderman. After reaching Liverpool he records the purchase of some "Pine" and Mr. Brownell being presumably the father of James McNeill Whistler. Miss Bennett showed a watch that was brought home from that trip by Mr. Brownell and given to his wife.

THE ROLL OF HONOR. At yesterday afternoon's session of the exemption board of division 2, city hall, two more names were added to the roll of the National army, the newcomers being as follows: John J. Ward, 25 years, 133 White street. Thomas F. Reardon, 21 years, 45 Marion street.

Mr. H. Hodgson, 32 years, 42 South Walker street, who successfully passed the physical test yesterday morning and who at that time filed a claim of exemption on the grounds of having dependent children, changed his mind later in the day and in the afternoon he called at city hall and withdrew his claim, saying he was ready to serve when needed.

LOWELL BOY PREPARING FOR AIR BATTLES

A. Arthur Barbera, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Barbera of 4 Sunborn street, is another Lowell young man who will soon give his services to his country in a capacity which calls for specialized training and ability. Mr. Barbera has successfully passed all his examinations as a candidate for a first lieutenant in the aviation section of the signal corps. He will soon begin an extensive course of training in one of the ground schools where would-be aviators receive their preliminary training before they are allowed to fly. Mr. Barbera has not yet been assigned but he expects to be ordered to the aviation training school at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The Lowell boy has had abundant experience in the mechanical line and his services would no doubt prove of exceptional value to the government. For the past five years he has been employed by the Edison Electrical Illuminating Co. of Boston as a special inspector. In preparation for his intended career as an aviator he attended the Lowell Institute at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and specialized in the electrical engineering course. About two months ago he applied for admission into the aviation section and passed a gruelling physical examination about four weeks ago. Mr. Barbera says that there is very little getting past the examining officers. A man must have nerves of steel and be physically sound in every respect. Psychological tests which delve into the thoughts of the applicant form only one element of severity in the examination. Dr. C. C. L. Burit, successor to Prof. Hugo Munsterberg at Harvard university, is in charge of

TWO SAFE INVESTMENTS

Buying a Liberty Bond is the safest investment that you can possibly make. You loan your surplus money to the government for a specified time. At the end of that period your money is returned intact. And you receive interest on your money semi-annually while it is being used.

A Thor Electric Washing Machine is not far behind a Liberty Bond as an investment. Ask some of your neighbors who have tried both. The Thor will save money for you just as surely as a Liberty Bond—and it pays dividends too in increased leisure, health and comfort.
